ON THE COVER: Notre Dame defensive end and 1976 Outland Trophy winner Ross Browner. The most valuable defensive player for the Irish as a junior, he set several school single-season and career records. His 28 tackles for minus yardage in '76 shattered the previous mark of 19, and he had four fumble recoveries to raise his career total to 10, an Irish record. Notre Dame opponents suffered a record 203 minus yards, the result of sacks by the consensus all-America. Browner was named to the Scholastic, Kodak and Sunkist all-America squads and the Super 11 team as a high school senior, playing offensive and defensive end for Warren Western Reserve when it won the Ohio state championship. The Irish tri-captain has led the team in tackles-for-loss all three of his years in South Bend and conceivably could wrap up his career with college football's highest honor, the Heisman Trophy.

NATIONAL PREVIEW-REVIEW

East Hopes To Hold Spotlight Even After Majors And Dorsett Are Gone

By REGIS McAULEY

*Sports Columnist, Tucson Citizen
President, Football Writers Association of America*

College football's power pendulum has swung to the East where Pitt and Penn State are straining to hold it suspended there in 1977.

Tony Dorsett stole the spotlight away from Joe Paterno's annual galaxy display at Penn State as the Heisman Trophy winner, and his all-America-studded cast brought the national championship vote to Pitt last season.

Now Dorsett is gone and so is Pitt's coach, Johnny Majors, who has taken the head job at Tennessee. But Jackie Sherrill, a former assistant to Majors and last year's head man at Washington State, promises that the Panthers haven't sealed up their lair and intend to claw away at that national title again this year with several talented players who worked in Dorsett's shadow last season.

PATERNO, STRANGELY GRIM AND SILENT AT PENN STATE, still is smarting over last year's loss to Pitt, the first in 10 straight years, and the beating Notre Dame gave the Nittany Lions in the Gator Bowl.

The football sun could rise again in the East.

Other reports from around the nation to be found on subsequent pages of this Football Guide go into detail about the outlook in the top conferences and among the independents, citing the particulars of the following prognostications.

Ohio State and Michigan once again should blanket the Big Ten.

Oklahoma, Nebraska, Colorado and Oklahoma State could give the Big Eight one of its tightest races despite the awesome talent in the Sooners' camp.

Houston's winning the championship in its first season in the Southwest Conference should have Texas, Arkansas, Texas Tech, Baylor and Texas A&M stepping into the season on cautious tiptoes.

Alabama is gunning for Georgia in the Southeast Conference with Florida and Mississippi State in spoiler roles.

Maryland, which went to the Cotton Bowl last year, is the cream of the Atlantic Coast Conference again, but North Carolina and Wake Forest are planting pitfalls.

SOUTHERN CAL, off its Rose Bowl victory over Michigan, is the team to beat in the Pacific-8 Conference, and UCLA is the team most likely to try.

The Western Athletic Conference, with two of its members playing out a lame duck

Regis McAuley, named sports editor of The Daily Citizen in 1974, gained firsthand knowledge of the pigskin pastime as a quarterback at John Carroll University, after gaining all-Western Pennsylvania recognition in high school.

The columnist, who has won three American Newspaper Guild Awards, moved west in 1969, preceding his current tour of duty with stints as sports editor of first the Cleveland News and then the Cleveland Press beginning in 1943.

McAuley inherited the task of previewing the national college football scene when he ascended to the presidency of the football writers group.

season since Arizona and Arizona State both plan to move to the Pac-8 in 1978, should be a battle royal among the two Arizona schools, Brigham Young and Wyoming, the latter two having shared the WAC title last year.

But to turn from the cast of college football to some of the issues, two of the more interesting matters on the minds of college coaches as they go into this 1977 season are the implementation of new roster limits for recruited athletes receiving financial aid and the new playing rule which permits blockers downfield on screen passes.

HEADING INTO THIS CAMPAIGN Division I schools may have no more than 95 men total receiving football aid, having had a 30-grant ceiling for football recruiting each of the last four years.

The business of complying with the 30-95 limits and adjusting to the rule change were discussed at length by several of the top coaches at the College Preview '77 meeting in Kansas City in February.

Johnny Majors, who was named coach of the year after leading Pitt to a 12-0 season and since has switched to the head coaching job at Tennessee, said at that meeting:

"I UNDERSTAND SOME COACHES ALREADY ARE CUTTING kids off their rosters. They have to. If you sign up 30 a year and are limited to 95 overall, every coach will have to face the inevitable unpleasant task of telling a boy his scholarship will not be renewed. We can only give them a one-year scholarship which we are allowed to renew one year at a time. But we must stay under the 95 total.

"This is the last year that redshirts (players held out of competition for one year) will not be counted in your total. Next year they will be and that's when the trouble will start in earnest. It will not surprise me to see a lot of lawsuits filed."

Bo Schembechler of Michigan said, "This rule penalizes the people who have good athletic programs. If you have a solid program and the boys stay with you all four years and get their degrees, this is what football is all about. But we won't be able to promise a boy a four-year education any longer. Something may come up where we have to replace him with a boy of better qualifications for football."

KISSIN' COUSINS—Appearances can be deceiving, since J. T. Smith (44) of North Texas and Southern Methodist's Jim Duggan were more likely feudin' neighbors. But entangled facemasks brought them together like this while SMU was en route to a 38-31 victory in a wild contest.

Among the coaches who agree that the scholarship limits ultimately will mean the cutting of many athletes off the rosters were Vince Dooley of Georgia; Earl Bruce, Iowa State; Jerry Claiborne, Maryland; John Robinson, Southern Cal; Joe Yukica, Boston College, and Bill Yeoman, Houston.

Only one coach at the meeting said he was happy about the rule and that was Sonny Holland of Montana State. The man who directed the 1976 Division II champions said, "The 30-limit on recruiting means that in Montana we now are getting some of the boys who formerly went to the Pac-8 west of us or to the WAC east of us. The rule helps schools in the small college division, but I can see where it would be a tremendous problem for major colleges."

Majors said the coaches should lobby to get the limit set at 105 instead of 95. He pointed out that the rule works a special hardship on those universities in sparsely-populated areas of the country where attrition of student-athletes is high.

Turning to some implications of the new playing rule which covers screen passes, linebackers and cornerbacks are going to have to be on their toes or they'll wind up on their backs from vicious blocking.

Under the rule change by the NCAA Football Rules Committee, linemen can bust through and block downfield without worrying about drawing an ineligible receiver downfield penalty, providing the pass receiver catches the ball at or behind the line of scrimmage. The new rule really should open up the passing game this season.

Dave Nelson, secretary of the rules committee, calls this the "major change in the passing game since they changed the size of the ball in 1934."

Here's what the new rule means: On screen passes, guards and tackles can cut down linebackers and cornerbacks. They can do the same on rollout option plays without worrying about forward-laterals.

The committee said its intent was to make forward passes behind the line of scrimmage legal on option plays.

The rule is expected to help veer and wishbone teams more than others. Now their linemen can move out without penalty if the quarterback decides to throw a short pass to a trailing halfback—as long as he catches it at or behind the line of scrimmage.

What it means is that linebackers, who formerly laid back until the pass was thrown, now will be trying to avoid blockers while at the same time trying to decide what the quarterback is going to do with the ball.

It also gives the quarterback something to think about. He must be sure his passes don't go beyond the line of scrimmage if some of his linemen have sprinted into the secondary to block.

Here's another gimmick about the new rule. If the pass is incomplete with linemen downfield, the ball must hit the ground before it crosses the line of scrimmage.

And how would you like to be the official who has to keep his eye on all these possibilities under the new rule?

Another innovation in the world of football for the 1977 season is the formation of the College Football Association, a group of major football powerhouses that have joined hands within the framework of the NCAA but will be studying passage of legislation which would benefit the schools which have similar interests.

Colleges in the CFA are required to have stadiums with seating capacities of 30,000 for home games, had an average attendance of 20,000 or more over a five-year period and maintained an average of 80 football grants-in-aid in that same period.

Everyone with an interest in college sports, particularly anyone claiming some involvement with college football, is eyeing the dealings of the CFA.

Obviously, if the big football powers in the college field were to make a separate deal with television and leave the others in the NCAA to shift for themselves, picking up what television contracts were left—if indeed any remained, those outside the CFA circle could be in big trouble.

At this point, however, the moving forces in the College Football Association, Father Edmund Joyce of Notre Dame; Chuck Neinas, Big Eight commissioner, and Boyd McWhorter, commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, have said repeatedly that the new group does not wish to secede from the NCAA but to operate its own affairs as an autonomous group within the framework of the NCAA.

What it amounts to is a split between those schools that operate their athletic programs with gate receipts from football and basketball and those that must depend on student fees and contributions for support.

The smaller schools annually seek to get more of a slice of the television money that goes to the big conferences and the independent schools.

VEILED DISBELIEF—Wake Forest all-America Bill Armstrong (19) mirrors the feelings that he and his Deacon teammates attempted to keep under wraps on the sidelines during an 18-17 loss to Virginia in Atlantic Coast Conference competition. Wake was disappointed in a 5-6 season, too.

That's why realignment has been a major issue at recent NCAA conventions, though nothing really has been accomplished.

Many people close to the college football scene feel that 1977 is the year during which some big decisions must be made.

Dick Kazmaier, Princeton's all-America and a Heisman Trophy winner, says, "College football is at the crossroads. College officials must decide whether they want to place tighter controls on big time football or go all out and provide entertainment for the television networks with super teams in a super conference."

HOUSTON, WHICH HAS BEEN PLAYING AS AN INDEPENDENT for the past 10 years, could be used as a prime example of what happens to a school when it joins a top conference and gets into the big bowl games on national television.

After posting a 9-2 record last season with a final victory over Rice, 42-20, Wilbur Evans, executive director of the Cotton Bowl, was waiting in the Cougar's cramped dressing room to issue an invitation to the Cotton Bowl.

Field Scovell, Cotton Bowl official, said this about the upstart Cougars: "That University of Houston, ain't that something? We let 'em in the conference, and we tell 'em to sit in the back of the bus and keep quiet, do as they are told and everything will be all right. Just look at them. They haven't done a thing we told them."

"Not only that, Bill Yeoman (Cougars' coach) is driving the bus!"

EVANS TOLD THE SCREAMING, SWEATING COUGARS after the Rice game, "You didn't start anything you couldn't finish. And now you're going to convince 35 million more people on New Year's Day."

Yeoman asked him, "Is there anything else we have to do to get to the Cotton Bowl?"

And Evans responded, "Just pack your bags."

Houston packed just the right equipment to beat Maryland, 30-21, in the Cotton Bowl.

So a college football team that was 2-8 in 1975 and reversed it to 9-2 in 1976 is riding the glory train and is a power to be considered when the Southwest Conference opens its season this year.

Arizona and Arizona State will be following Houston's example next year when they step out of the WAC into the powerful Pacific-8 Conference.

Southern Cal coach John Robinson, commenting on the new alignment of the Pac-8 in 1978 says, "This will be a crowd-pleasing conference because so many different offenses are represented. One week you'll play against the veer; maybe next week it will be the wishbone. Then a running team will come in, followed by a passing team.

"It makes for interesting football."

With the trend toward power conferences and the formation of the new CFA, talk is being revived about a national championship game for colleges.

Many top college coaches and athletic directors are for it, some are against.

Don Canham, the dynamic athletic director at Michigan, had this to say about a national championship game:

"I'm against it. We polled our players at the bowl game and their reaction was, 'Look, we've been away from home for Christmas and New Year's and now they're talking about a championship game. We've had enough football.'"

"I feel the same way," Canham said.

But the question won't end there, nor will college football ever go into a new season where there aren't some new issues, some new rules, some surprise powerhouses, some new coaches and always, some loyal, die-hard alumni.

Get ready to blow the whistle for 1977, another great year in college football.

The East [NCAA Districts 1 & 2]

Paterno's Prophecy For Eastern Power Comes True—But For Pitt

By MARINO PARASCENZO
Sports Writer, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

The Pitt Panthers hardly had stepped out of the Sugar Bowl game with a victory over the Georgia Bulldogs in one hip pocket and the national championship in the other before the faithful were crying, "Wait til next year!" But it wasn't a warning; it was a lament, complete with wringing of hands.

Gone were coach Johnny Majors (to Tennessee), Heisman winner Tony Dorsett and an all-America supporting cast. Folks figured nothing was left of that 12-0 machine.

JACKIE SHERRILL, FORMER MAJORS' AIDE and head man at Washington State last year, is Pitt's new head coach. In the face of this despair, he has his considerable chin up. In fact, he's sticking it out.

"I think," said Sherrill, "we can be somewhere between the successful season and the ultimate successful season." By his own definitions, this means—if you please—no worse than a bowl game, no better than another national title.

"We have the people," says Sherrill, "leading off with quarterback Matt Cavanaugh and defensive tackle Randy Holloway."

Penn State, which used to have the East all to itself, now finds its aerie under attack. Coach Joe Paterno is openly noncommittal, which is bad news.

"I've gotta see a lot of people do an awful lot of tough things before I'll get an idea of what kind of team we're going to have," said Paterno, who did a lot of patching last year.

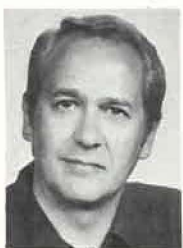

But he showed why some folks once wanted to run him for governor. Paterno has insisted for years that Eastern football was tough, but he couldn't get any respect, despite some dandy teams.

Pitt's national championship, its first since 1938 and the East's first since 1959 (Syracuse) made lots of believers. And now, it was suggested, Penn State finally could win one.

"I WOULD TURN that around," Paterno said. "I'd say the reason Pitt won the national title is because they handled us so well." (Penn State had beaten Pitt 10 straight.)

In addition, the West Virginians have thrown their Mountaineer hat into the ring, and Boston College looks solid again, even facing openers at Texas and Tennessee.

Marino Parascenzo has been covering college football for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette since 1970.

The Penn State grad has spent much of his time journalizing the exploits of the Pitt Panthers, with side doses of West Virginia and the Nittany Lions.

In a career that includes stops at a number of other papers, Parascenzo figures the most significant happening was the dizzying four-year Johnny Majors-Tony Dorsett ride at Pittsburgh.

Also the Post-Gazette's golf writer, he finds time to pen stories on the usual variety of sports with some special attention for college basketball.

Temple "will be competitive," says Wayne Hardin, while Army and Navy are rising and unrespected Rutgers is rolling. Villanova has found the tranquility of success in the wishbone, and Colgate is geared to ride high.

Holy Cross is looking to youth, especially the exciting Brian Doherty, and Syracuse continues to fall short of glory despite quarterback Bill Hurley.

UPSTART BROWN STILL IS UP in the Ivy League chase, where Yale's Carm Cozza claims no weaknesses. Harvard, limping from graduation, could contend, and at Cornell, it's perhaps too early for returning Ivy magician Bob Blackman to work wonders.

At Pitt, Matt Cavanaugh and Randy Holloway are only the tip of the iceberg.

The dazzling light thrown by Dorsett, all-America middle guard Al Romano, et al., obscured the fact that a lot of talented players were awaiting their turn. Their turn has come, which is why Jackie Sherrill is talking crazy.

Cavanaugh, though injured much of the year, managed to accumulate such credentials as 65 completions in 110 passes for 1,046 yards and nine touchdowns. He also rushed for 336 yards out of the veer (Sherrill is switching to the I-formation and split backs and expects to pass more). Cavanaugh beat out Dorsett for MVP honors in the 27-3 Sugar Bowl holiday over Georgia, and Pitt says he's a Heisman candidate.

PITT ALSO SAYS THE 6-6, 240-POUND HOLLOWAY is an Outland candidate. Example: 80 tackles and 18 sacks for the national champions last year.

The Panthers abound with receivers led by junior Gordon Jones, spectacular in the Sugar Bowl after season-long injuries, and Willie Taylor. Sherrill rebuilds the offensive line around guards Matt Carroll and second-team all-America Tom Brzoza. Except for Holloway, the defensive line jobs are wide open.

The linebackers are gone, too, but the defensive secondary, a masterpiece, returns intact. Bob Jury, Jeff Delaney, Leroy Felder and J.C. Wilson led Pitt to 28 interceptions.

With Dorsett gone, senior Elliott Walker, a 903-yarder in 1975 but injured last year, should come into his own. A flock of sophomore talents plus freshman whiz Charles (Rooster) Jones are on hand.

LOATHE TO LET GO—Mike Corp (dark jersey) from the University of Rochester has the football and shows little inclination to give it up, despite the efforts of a whole squadron of Canisius tacklers. Rochester exhibited similar determination in winning the game, 21-7.

OOMPH!—Who's to say which of the two men bore the brunt of the collision that left each with a measure of success? Colgate's Keith Polito (dark jersey) managed to come up with a catch, and Boston University's Terry Thompson came down with Polito. But Colgate came out with a 21-14 success.

The biggest hurt is in the kicking game. Authors of every kick for the past four years, punter Larry Swider and placekicker Carson Long, are gone.

The East's emergence from football wilderness can be credited to Penn State's Joe Paterno. He led them. That is, they were chasing him. Anyway, he's a kind of Moses.

"Moses? Hah!" Paterno cracked. "I'm just worried about being a good coach."

AND PATERNO SAYS HE WASN'T ONE LAST YEAR, blaming himself for the Nittany Lions' subpar 7-5 record (including a Gator Bowl loss to Notre Dame). But Paterno promises to bear down this year, which should be grim news for others.

Paterno starts with the offensive line, where center Keith Dorney is the only regular. The rest of the offense, nearly absent for two years, should be up to standard.

Quarterback Chuck Fusina (88-167, 1,260 yards passing) returns, along with three top tailbacks led by Steve Geise (550 yards) and fullback Bob Torrey (302).

A populous crew of receivers is led by Jimmy Cefalo (14 catches, 295 yards) and tight end Mickey Shuler (21 for 281).

The defense should be vintage Penn State; tackles Tony Petruccio and Randy Sidler, linebacker Joe Diange and halfback Neil Hutton lead nine starters back.

When Frank Cignetti took over as West Virginia's coach last year, the problem was not only rebuilding but surviving the loss of 23 seniors. The 5-6 record was no surprise.

Now 37 lettermen return, 18 of them starters.

THE KEY IS DEVELOPING THE OFFENSIVE LINE into a unit. Tom Antion, Tom Creeden, Wayne Gatewood and Clay Singletary return to protect one of the nation's nifty combinations—quarterback Dan Kendra and receiver Steve Lewis.

Senior fullback Paul Lumley and sophomore Walter Basley lead a running attack that could feature a surprise—much-sought freshman Robert Alexander. Linebacker Jeff Macerelli and middle guard Joe Jelich key a defense that lost only three starters.

Rutgers' Scarlet Knights, owners of the nation's longest win streak (18-0, and 11-0 last year) went unpolled and unbowed in '76; and Frank Burns, Walter Camp Football Foundation coach of the year, saw it as a personal affront and a slap at Eastern football. The WAISTED—A soaring Tom Spann (81) from Rhode Island is caught in the grasp of a Brown defenseman with the inevitability of being brought back down to earth. Another Bruin, Frank Pozniak (20), comes in ready to help during the close contest which Brown finally won, 3-0.

Knights barely made The Associated Press Top 20 (17th), and, smarting, they rejected a nibble from the Independence Bowl.

No matter. The streak could roll merrily along, what with 34 lettermen returning. They include the entire starting backfield led by quarterback Bert Kosup and running back Glen Kehler. Kicker Kennan Startzell also returns.

Burns will have to patch up the offensive line, but the defense, tops in the nation in three departments, looks healthy. Returnees include nose guard Rich Wagner, tackle Dan Gray and linebacker Jim Hughes (113 tackles).

Navy closed 1976 with a rush, an average of 410 yards per in the last four games. Coach George Welsh, mulling over the 4-7 record, hopes it was a coming-of-age thing.

Two big reasons for the late fireworks were junior quarterback Bob Leszczynski and senior tailback Joe Gattuso, the main men among 31 returning lettermen.

Leszczynski, who became the starter at midseason, completed 63 of 108 tries for 875 yards and seven TDs in that four-game stretch.

Gattuso, wingback for most of the first six games, finished as the top carrier with 591 yards. He joins junior Phil McConkey to solidify the receiving corps. Center Ray Fritsch and tackle Rickie Bott key an offensive line that loses only two starters.

Tackles Pfunandre Redvict and John Merrill return to the riddled defensive line. But the entire secondary returns, led by linebackers Tom Paulk and Nick Mygas.

Meanwhile, that light above the Hudson is Homer Smith's smile. Last year's 5-6 record and a horde of returnees suggest Army's long gray line may not be so thin this year.

Smith nursed so young a team last year that he loses only nine players. The principal returnee is quarterback Leamon Hall, leading the charge of 18 returning starters.

The lanky Hall, loosed of Smith's '75 wishbone, hit on 162 of 344 passes for 2,174 yards and 15 TDs last year. He also was intercepted 27 times, which is what can happen when an Army goes airborne. Top receiver Clennie Brundige (47 catches, 657 yards, six TDs), halfback Greg Kind and guard Curt Downs also return to the offense.

Tackles Chuck D'Amico (6-4, 235) and Duane Fuller (6-5, 230), end Chuck Schott and linebacker Mark Berry are the core of the Corps' defense.

COACH WAYNE HARDIN, entering his eighth season, could make history with the Temple Owls this year. He's one victory away from becoming their second winningest coach (he has 45), six from the winningest. But he has his work cut out for him.

"We'll be young," he said, "but we'll be competitive with any team we play."

The big problems are with the offensive line and defensive backs.

Quarterbacking will be strong with the return of Pat Carey and Terry Gregory. So will the running with the return of junior Anthony Anderson (803 yards, 4.5 average) and Wiley Pitts. Anderson was the nation's 10th-ranked all-purpose runner last year.

Receiving also is healthy with the experience of tight end Joe Dugan (23 catches, 306 yards) and flanker Steve Watson, to say nothing of the versatile Anderson.

A LOT OF DEFENSE RETURNS, including tackles Bob Verrell and Bob Brewer and linebacker Sam Sakocius, but replacing famed middle guard Joe Klecko will be a task. Freshman Ed Blake and junior college transfer Elliott Artis, 6-3, 270, are candidates.

Graduation left footprints on the Boston College Eagles. Coach Joe Yukica isn't tempted to cry, though. A mass departure didn't stop the Eagles from going 8-3 last year.

Real enough losses are all-America guard Steve Schindler and fullback Glen Capriola. Yukica can start worrying when ready. The offensive line, for openers, has only one starter back, junior Jim Rourke; and protection must be found for two capable quarterbacks, runner Joe O'Brien and passer Ken Smith.

The running game looks healthy with the return of speedster Anthony Brown, sophomore FACING UP TO IT is Dwight Bell (33) from Bates College, who broke up this pass to Joe Kozloski (81) of St. Lawrence, while Bates' Dion Wilson dives in to help. Kozloski and St. Lawrence got revenge when he caught a pass and took it 86 yards for a TD en route to a 37-13 win.

Dan Conway, quick Neil Green and Dennis Buchanan. Soph Mike Curry, a 9.3 sprinter sidelined by a broken foot last year, should help.

Linebacker Rich Scudellari, tackle Fred Smerlas (6-4, 275) and all-East defensive back Kelly Elias (seven interceptions) have to pull the defense together.

PUNTER JIM WALTON (43.2 AVERAGE) and placekicker Tim Moorman (29-29 PAT, 12 field goals) leave no holes in the Eagles kicking game.

At Villanova, coach Dick Bedesem got his wish with the wishbone. After a ragged start, the Wildcats closed with six straight victories for a 6-4-1 record. The offense remains strong with the return of such as all-East center Chuck Lodge and guard Ken Zunic.

The problem is at quarterback where John Puleo moves in with no depth behind him. One unexpected blow was the early departure of back Ken Diminick for dental school.

But burly junior fullback Vince Thompson and Charlie Gross return to the backfield.

Middle guard Steve Slagle and tackle Steve Duda, as well as Sean Collins (six interceptions) and his secondary mates, return to a defense riddled up the middle.

SYRACUSE COACH FRANK MALONEY knew it the moment he had a quarterback. It was in the eighth game against none other than national champ-to-be Pitt. Bill Hurley, a former tailback, suddenly turned into a dazzler. He drove the vaunted Pitt defense daffy with a school record 313 yards in total offense in a tight 23-13 loss.

Hurley is the key, and he has the comfort of six returning starters up front, including center Paul Colvin, lineman Ken Clarke and tight end Rich Rosen.

And all four backs return, including Bob Avery and Earl Vaughn.

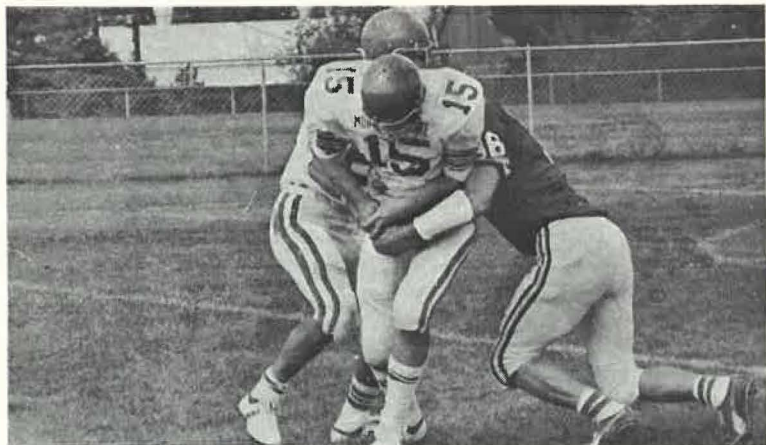

With all-East safety Tim Moresco the main secondary loss, the return of senior Larry King is reassuring. But linebacking remains a big question.

Coach Neil Wheelwright got a leg up on it at Holy Cross in his debut last year—3,443 yards out of his new wishbone attack. But only a 3-8 record. That's youth for you.

Wheelwright ended up with 17 Crusader freshmen on his two-deep chart. Twelve of them are among 29 lettermen. HC loses only one offensive starter, four defensive.

RAINDROPS KEEP FALLING ON MY HEAD—Even the venerable official had no invisible shield against the downpour that fell on this meeting between Norwich and Boston State last fall. The Norwich Cadets proved better able to keep their heads above water for a 43-12 victory.

FRIEND OR FOE—Montclair State quarterback Randy Schenauer (15) is the man in the middle as Kean College defensive end John Finnegan attempts to tackle him and Montclair's Neil Torino tries to intercede. The decision went to Montclair State, 26-10, in its season opener.

The top of the youth crop was halfback Brian Doherty co-rookie of the year in the ECAC last year off his team-leading 660 yards rushing (6.2 average, seven TDs).

Bob Morton, at home with the wishbone, is back for his third season as starting quarterback. Fullback Steve Hunt, defensive linemen Steve Gannon and Mike McDonnell, linebacker Kevin Harrington and cornerback Glenn Verrette also return.

Colgate's Red Raiders stunned everyone last year. Fred Dunlap came in as the new coach, switched from the wishbone to the wing-T and the Raiders rode off to an 8-2 record—not only the best since 1966 but only the second eight-win season since 1932.

Colgate's 1977 edition has 23 lettermen returning, including six starters both ways.

QUARTERBACK BOB RELPH (306 yards rushing, 1,353 passing, 10 TDs) returns but needs new receivers. Pat Healy leads returning runners and tackle Rick Doell the linemen. Bruce Malverty, ECAC co-rookie of the year, moves from fullback to halfback.

Linebacker Doug Curtis, end Gary Hartwig and tackle John Quinn anchor the defense.

The Bears of Brown, long the poor cousins of the Ivy League, suddenly look rich. They took the Ivy title (a share with Yale) for the first time in the league's 20 years.

Coach John Anderson told them so when he arrived four years earlier. "By the time you're seniors," he said back in 1973, "you'll be playing for the Ivy championship."

Now the Bears can win another for good measure. Sophomores up from a 6-1 freshman team, such as offensive tackles John Sinnott and Rock Tate, join the '76 holdovers.

Soph standouts Jo Jo Jamiel and Marty Moran challenge for offensive backfield jobs against last year's top three rushers, Wally Shields, Seth Morris and Billy Rill.

GUARDS RICH RIDDLE AND DAVE FIELD lead the return to the offensive line, while the defense is thickly veteran, keyed on tackles Kevin Rooney and Kevin Webb, middle guard Mike Lancaster and backs Luke Gaffney and Ron Brown. Even the kicking is strong. Punter Tom Thurow and placekicker Ruben Chapa return.

The big question: Can Mark Whipple or Marty DeFrancesco, battle-tested juniors, replace departed all-East quarterback Paul Michalko?

Yale coach Carm Cozza, with five Ivy titles in his 12 seasons, has run up a storm warning.

AN UNENVIABLE POSITION—Colgate's Pat Healy (32) is in a rough spot trying to maintain possession of the ball after fumbling it, all the while resisting the attempts of Davidson's Chris Crosby (53) and several of his mates to take it away. In the end Colgate triumphed, 17-7.

"I don't think we have any glaring weaknesses," Cozza proclaimed. Finding a kicker is his biggest problem. That says a lot for an 8-1 team that dropped the opener to Brown, then reeled off eight straight to tie Brown for the Ivy crown.

Much-honored halfback John Pagliaro (1,023 yards, 16 TDs) heads a parade of 34 returning lettermen, five of them offensive starters, seven defensive, from a club that was in the nation's Top 10 in four defensive and two offensive categories.

Lefthander Bob Rizzo, a substitute last year, should fill the quarterback spot.

TWO ALL-IVIES, GUARD STEVE CARFORA and tackle Jim McDonnell, key the offensive line, and junior John Spagnola leads a promising receiver corps. Guard Keith Bassi, tackles Bob Skoronski and Paul Denza, linebacker Bill Crowley and halfback Kurt Nondorf (the only soph on the all-Ivy first team) suggest a solid defense.

"Three critical areas for our offense," Harvard coach Joe Restic clucked, "are quarterback, halfback and the line." His offensive problems thus comfortably narrowed down, Restic can rejoice in the defense, especially in the line where four of the front five return from helping the Crimson to a 6-3 season (4-3 Ivy) last year.

Defensive ends Bob Baggot (all-Ivy) and Russ Savage and tackles Charlie Kaye (all-Ivy) and Steve Kaseta should trouble opposing runners.

The secondary needs help, though. Two all-Easts, Tom Joyce and Bill Emper, are gone.

"The multiflex," Restic said, contemplating his own brand of offense, "does a lot of things for you, but it can't replace personnel." The flood of graduates included QB Jim Kubacki, who merely set the Harvard career total offense record in only two seasons.

TIM DAVENPORT, A SUB behind Kubacki, is the top candidate at quarterback. Guard Mike Clark and tackle Bruce McKinnon return to regroup the offensive line. At running back things are as loose as opening day in the primaries.

Football is a two-way game. Otherwise, the Pennsylvania Quakers might be set. Coach Harry Gamble is going to have to find an offense if the Quakers are to improve.

Tackles Steve Glasgow and Jose Serra, ends Gary Rinaldi and Charley Gress and safety

Mike Daley key a defense that lost only two starters. The one-two runners, Denis Grosvenor and Johnny Mason, and split end Phil Avila head the thin hopes for the offense.

Cornell's Big Red may show a touch of Big Green this year. Bob Blackman, author of an empire at Big Green Dartmouth and fresh from the doldrums of the University of Illinois in the Big Ten, takes over for George Seifert.

But Blackman's touch—he produced Ivy records of 79 league victories and seven championships in 16 seasons at Dartmouth—may be a while in taking. One hint why: offensive tackle Tony Anzalone is the lone starter returning to either line from a 2-7 team.

But Blackman has the makings for improvement—29 lettermen.

JUNIORS JIM HOFHER (63-139, 740 yards passing) and Mike Tanner (25-51, 285 yards) will chase the quarterback job. Top rusher Neal Hall gives the Red a breakaway threat, and split end Bob Henrickson provides a receiving threat.

Defensively the strength is in the secondary, where starters Virgil Cotton, Garland Burns and John Curran return. Linebacker Terry Lee is probably Blackman's most talented player. Some help could arrive from a 5-1 freshman team.

"Painfully slow" is what Bill Campbell calls the growth of the Columbia Lions. And cautious is his outlook. "We feel a solid foundation has been laid which could start to pay off this fall . . . (in a winning season)."

The Lions are inching upward—1-8, 2-7, 3-6 in the past three years under Campbell. The reason for his brighter outlook is a squad with 24 returning lettermen.

They include seven defensive starters, anchored by ends Dave Chapman and Steve Vanek and middle guard Mike McGraw. Campbell also greets six offensive starters led by backs Gerry Fitzpatrick and Paul McCormick and center Bill Buchholz.

Kevin Burns, the quarterback until hurt, returns to try to straighten things out.

If coach Bob Casciola only could balance the see-saw, Princeton could rise. But this time it's the defensive line that could stall the Tigers. The offensive line is up.

TACKLES DAN FRIEL AND DWIGHT COLEMAN, guard Greg Bauman and center Andy Stephens should provide more mileage for star back Bobby Isom. Returnee Kirby Lockhart has the edge at quarterback but will be challenged by junior Steve Garza.

Meanwhile, back on the defensive line, blue-chip tackle Pete Funke is the nucleus.

A variety of problems leave Dartmouth clock-watching again this year. The Big Green (6-3, 4-3 Ivy) lost three games in the closing moments last year. Now coach Jake Crouthamel has to find an offensive line for backs Sam Coffey (764 yards, second in the Ivy) and Curt Oberg (573).

Junior Buddy Teevens, a jayvee last year, figures to run the option attack but will need a receiver to replace record-setter Harry Wilson.

The defense looks solid with tackle returnees Greg Robinson, 245, and two-year starter Dave Casper, 205. Casper may move to a vacant end spot. Jim Vilas is another in the crew of good Green linebackers, and the defensive backfield built around senior John Carney and junior Dave Stone is comforting.

East Divisions II-III Preview

By BOB SNYDER

Sports Writer, Syracuse Herald-Journal

Eastern teams again came up a bit short in Divisions II and III postseason play.

Towson State came the closest to copping national honors, watching a 28-point fourth quarter rally go for naught in a 31-28 Division III title loss to St. John's (Minn.).

Delaware reclaimed its perennial hold on the Lambert Cup for Division II domination. Still, Tubby Raymond's boys got a quick 28-17 playoff exit from Northern Michigan.

All-East rookie of the year Jeff Komlo returns to quarterback Delaware. He and a veteran front four are among 23 lettermen. New Hampshire again figures to dominate the Yankee Conference with 16 starters back, including halfback Bill Burnham.

Maine had its winningest year in the last dozen, whitewashed UNH and has running back Rudy DiPietro and quarterback Jack Cosgrove among 17 returning regulars. Massachusetts has fullback Billy Coleman, but 12 starters are gone.

LEHIGH HOPES THE ODD-YEAR PATTERN holds in its quest for the Lambert Cup, which it won in '73 and '75. Quarterback Mike Rieker is among 16 returning starters.

Lafayette finished with four straight wins and has 37 returnees, led by running back John Orrico. Classy runner Terry Randolph leads American International.

Bucknell no longer may rely on QB Kerry Snow. And Springfield, after its first winner in six years, graduated first-rate middle guard Roy Samuelsen.

East Stroudsburg is the only NCAA team to go undefeated the last two years and figures to remain atop the Eastern Division of the Pennsylvania Conference.

West Chester's challenge is the strength of 1,000-yard fullback Bill Blystone.

In the West, Shippensburg deadlocked East Stroudsburg, 14-14, and went on to take the division. Edinboro is led by tailback Dave Green.

Middle Atlantic Conference play saw Albright sweep through the Northern Division. Jeff Welch is back to carry the ball. Lycoming had the school's best record and top rushing defense in Division III. A 20-14 loss to Albright cost it a perfect season.

A veteran Franklin and Marshall club could repeat in the South despite the graduation of QB Joe Coviello, who amassed 5,868 career total yards. Widener could challenge.

Moravian is led by running back Bob Ternosky, and dark horse Muhlenberg has leading MAC rusher John Sules and top pass-catcher John Sartori.

Kirk Dempsey, ninth in Division III passing completions, leads St. Lawrence against Ithaca's ICAC challenge. Matt Mees directed the Ithaca ground game as a frosh.

THE 36-YEAR COACHING LEGEND named Alex Yunevich is history at Alfred. Enter Sam Sanders. Dave Urlick moves up to handle Hobart's program. RPI comes off its first winner in 10 years, while Rochester Tech has to replace passer Paul Adamo.

Bob Perry started half the games in '76 and will handle signal-calling chores as C.W. Post bids for another Metropolitan Conference title. Kings Point has Ed Ruth, who rambled for 732 yards as a yearling, but defense is the strength.

Middlebury has 22 lettermen back from New England's top-rated Divisions II-III team.

Trinity returns 30 lettermen and a fine defense; Tufts lost its entire backfield.

The loss of Don Wallace's passing won't help Williams regain Little Three laurels from Amherst. The latter hopes Mike Newman is healthy and able to find pass-catcher Bill Swiacki open. Wesleyan will challenge.

Nichols goes for a fifth straight New England Conference crown after losing all-time scorer Mark Brisebois from the school's highest scoring team.

Glassboro State seeks a fourth consecutive New Jersey State Conference title.

Mike Corp has led independent Rochester in rushing three years. Hamilton has 27 returnees, while Albany State lost fullback Tom DeBlois.

Cortland State must replace No. 4 Division III scorer Lyle Schuler.

Speedy Rich Zink could make Central Connecticut go, whereas Southern Connecticut needs people at skilled positions. Salisbury State won't find it easy replacing Levi Shade and Jim Watson. Washington and Jefferson lost only five starters.

Bowdoin needs an aerial game to win a third straight CBB crown.

Coast Guard dove from 8-2 to 1-8, but 32 lettermen should help. Split end Mike Walker is a stickout for Worcester Tech, which has 30 returners. Norwich is strong again, while replacing QB Bobbie Morgan is a must at St. Peter's.

HIGH ON SPORTS—Florida defensive tackle Dan Grebe shows how its done while attempting to block an extra point kick by Auburn's Neal O'Donoghue. Although Grebe failed to make this play successful, Florida had more success in the long run with a 24-19 Southeastern Conference win.

SEC Favorite's Role To Alabama, But No One Undersells Bulldogs

By JACK HAIRSTON
Sports Editor, The Gainesville Sun
Director, Football Writers Association of America

Southeastern Conference football coaches almost annually sing the same song of mutual regret at season's end: 1—We wish we hadn't played Vince Dooley's University of Georgia Bulldogs. 2—We wish we hadn't been suckered into picking Dooley's team in the SEC second division in preseason prognostications.

Dooley's 'Dogs used the familiar script for the third time last fall, being selected to finish in the second division, then winning the SEC title.

DOOLEY CRIES LOUDLY BEFORE ALMOST EVERY college football season, and his moans increase as the season goes along.

The week of a big game in Jacksonville against Florida last fall, Dooley arrived to speak to the Quarterback Club armed with clippings he'd been gathering all season.

"Every year I'm accused of building up our opponent," he said. "Well, this year I'm simply going to quote some knowledgeable people."

And he proceeded to read the clippings, each one detailing the might of the Gators. His sources were Houston coach Bill Yeoman, personnel director Gil Brandt of the Dallas Cowboys and assorted coaches and players from the camp of the Gators.

Then Dooley closed by saying: "My only comment is: I agree that Florida is a truly great team with unbelievable speed. We are not a great team. Defensively, we're small and weak. We've beaten Florida the last two years (both times when the Gators were favored), and odds-wise it will be difficult for us to repeat."

Gainesville Sun sports editor Jack Hairston started in the sports writing business 30 years ago at the age of 18 at the Greenwood (Miss.) Morning Star.

He moved on from his role as sports editor there to become assistant sports editor of the Jackson Daily News, sports editor at the Jackson State Times, a sports writer for the New Orleans Item, sports editor at the Jacksonville (Fla.) Journal and executive sports editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

In Florida's annual sports writing contest, he's finished first or second in columns, news, features, general writing excellence, makeup and public service.

Georgia won the game, 41-27, and rolled on to a 10-1 season, the conference title and a Sugar Bowl engagement with national champ Pittsburgh.

Georgia won't be picked in the SEC second division by any sane person this year. There are plenty of standouts remaining from the '76 team.

ALABAMA, HOWEVER, is the preseason favorite, with Georgia just a notch behind.

If there's a darkhorse breakthrough, the long shots for success are Florida and Mississippi State.

The Gators never have won the league title, and Mississippi

State won it once—36 years ago.

Maryland is a top-heavy favorite to continue its domination of the Atlantic Coast Conference, with North Carolina and upcoming Wake Forest the most likely challengers.

Appalachian State is the choice in the revamped Southern Conference, which has new members in Marshall, Western Carolina and Tennessee-Chattanooga.

INDEPENDENTS ACCORDED THE MOST RESPECT going into the season are East Carolina, which abdicates from the Southern Conference throne room after winning the title last year and in 1972 and '73; Memphis State, which has been rough on SEC teams the last couple of years, and South Carolina.

At Alabama Paul "Bear" Bryant and his men are shooting to recapture the SEC title they won five consecutive years before Georgia's breakthrough last season.

The Crimson Tide (9-3 last year) should have one of the nation's toughest offenses with eight regulars back, including standouts in split end-tight end Ozzie Newsome, quarterback Jeff Rutledge, halfback Tony Nathan, fullback Johnny Davis and center Terry Jones, each an all-conference candidate.

Big improvement is expected from Rutledge, a sophomore starter last year.

Linebacker Barry Krauss and safety Mike Kramer head a defense which lost the five linemen but retained everyone else.

THE SOUTH'S "GAME OF THE YEAR" could be October 1 in Tuscaloosa when Alabama tries to avenge last year's 21-0 loss at the hands of Georgia.

Georgia's bid to repeat as champion is headed by running back Kevin McLee and a defense which includes seven returnees.

McLee became the second Georgia ball carrier in history to top 1,000 yards last year (1942 Heisman Trophy winner Frankie Sinkwich was the other).

Linebackers Ben Zambiasi, Jeff Lewis and Jim Griffith are back, along with rover Bill Krug, the big-play man of the Bulldogs' fanatical defense.

A PICTURE IS WORTH A THOUSAND WORDS—The defeats that break the hearts of college football fans across the country every year are summed up in the agonized expression of a young North Carolina State rooster watching Maryland dump the Wolfpack, 16-7, in ACC action.

"WHERE DID I GO WRONG?" queries Vanderbilt wide receiver Martin Cox while hovering above the playing field during the '76 opener with Oklahoma. Sooners watching the action are Zac Henderson (19) and Jerry Anderson, who enjoyed a victory "high" when it was over, 24-3.

Zambiasi and Krug were all-conference a year ago.

The key to Georgia's season has to be finding a quarterback to replace Ray Goff and Matt Robinson, who shared the job the last two years.

Florida retains nine defensive regulars, only four on offense. Unfortunately, the Gators had a tremendous offense and a weak defense last year.

COACH DOUG DICKEY'S BIGGEST WEAPONS are split end Wes Chandler, whose pass reception yards led the league last year, and halfback Willie Wilder, whose 9.5 speed has helped him immensely in negotiating long runs for the Gators.

The offensive line must be rebuilt (one returnee), and the defense must get tougher and larger with age for the Gators to challenge for the title.

Henry Davis, a preseason all-America last year, returns to the secondary after a year's absence due to a knee operation.

Other standouts on defense are linebacker Scot Brantley, the league's rookie of the year as a freshman last year, and middle guard Scott Hutchinson.

Mississippi State thinks its '77 team may be better than last year, when the best record in 36 years was posted (9-2).

COACH BOB TYLER PERHAPS LOST MORE STANDOUTS than any other coach in the league, but he has plenty returning, particularly in quarterback Bruce Threadgill and fullback Dennis Johnson. Threadgill will be the regular for the third year in a row, and last fall he passed for 807 yards and ran for 554. Johnson, 6-3, 235 and fast, rushed for 859 yards and a 5.7 average last year.

Top defender is expected to be left tackle Larry Gillard, 6-5, 265. Both the offense and the defense benefit from the experience of six regulars who return.

At Louisiana State coach Charlie McClendon believes last year's 6-4-1 record was a strong hint that the Bayou Bengals are on the verge of returning to their strength of his first 12 seasons on the job (1962-73), when they went to 10 bowl games.

SNOW WHAT!—A Floridian can't be expected to contend with snow—and wouldn't expect to have to contend with it in Texas. Punter Bill Duley from Florida State lost track of the ball after fumbling it, but the Seminoles eventually won, 21-20, despite a North Texas recovery here.*

Thirty-three lettermen are back, and the frosh team was undefeated for the first time in almost a decade.

The Bengals are big and experienced on both forward walls, and the defense has standouts in ends Lew Sibley and John Adams.

THE SEC'S LEADING RUSHER, Terry Robiskie, has departed via graduation; but his tailback duties fall into the competent hands of Charles Alexander, a 6-1, 214-pound junior who rushed for almost 900 yards last year as Robiskie's understudy. The next big name on the horizon in the South could be Alexander's.

Tennessee starts with the coach who has the nation's longest undefeated string, but unfortunately Johnny Majors couldn't bring players like Tony Dorsett with him from the University of Pittsburgh, where he won the national championship last fall.

In returning to his alma mater, Majors inherits a squad that was 6-5 last year and lost key men like Larry Seivers, Stanley Morgan and Andy Spiva. Finding a new quarterback is one of Majors' many assignments, but he has proven runners in Bobby Emmons, Frank Foxx and Kelsey Finch, who averaged 6.2, 5.1 and 4.6, respectively, last year.

Most of the defense is back, but it wasn't one of the league's tougher units.

IT'S DIFFICULT TO DETERMINE whether Kentucky can get out of the blocks with great enthusiasm or a hang-dog look. The Wildcats were 7-4 last year, closing with four straight wins and their first bowl appearance in 25 years, but they also were saddled with an NCAA probation, which stops their new bowl string at one.

If coach Fran Curci can continue to work his magic in firing up the 'Cats, he has some standouts around whom to build, particularly Derrick Ramsey, 6-5, 220-pound quarterback who ran for 771 yards and passed for 577 last year; Rod Stewart, who rushed for 711 yards as a sophomore fullback last year, and defenders Jim Kovach, linebacker; Jerry Blanton, middle guard; Mike Siganos, safety, and end Art Still.

In his second year as Auburn head coach, Doug Barfield tries to start the long climb back from 3-8. He lost a half dozen of his best players to graduation but keeps three standouts in tight end Reece McCall, 6-7, 236; linebacker Freddie Smith, an all-conference contender last year as a freshman, and strong safety Rick Freeman.

Thirty-eight lettermen and 15 returning starters (nine on defense) provide balance, but departed quarterback Phil Gargis leaves some important shoes to fill.

OLE MISS COACH KEN COOPER would like to find the formula the Rebels used to beat Georgia and Alabama last year and use it consistently.

In their other games they were 3-6.

Eight offensive and four defensive starters return. The standouts are linebacker Ken Coleman and speedy Michael Sweet, who may be switched from tailback to wide receiver after a series of injuries.

Things should be a great deal better for Vanderbilt coach Fred Pancoast, but it's a long way up from 2-9.

The Commodores keep all 11 defensive starters, plus eight regulars on offense.

All that experience includes four exceptional players in defensive end Dennis Harrison (6-8, 262), linebacker Kimmie Weaver, safety Brenard Wilson and wide receiver Martin Cox, who caught 38 passes for 738 yards last year.

HOWEVER, A PAIR OF SOPHOMORES who were given a lot of seasoning last year could hold the key, tailback Preston Brown and fullback Frank Mordica.

Junior quarterbacks Mike Wright and Randy Hampton, who combined for 1,589 passing yards last year, return.

Jerry Claiborne seeks his fourth straight Atlantic Coast Conference title at Maryland with what could be a possibly stronger aggregation than last year's 11-0 team which lost to Houston in the Cotton Bowl. Graduation losses seldom have hurt his Terp powerhouses because of his usual policy of playing 50 men in the first half.

There are all-America possibilities in quarterback Mark Manges and linebacker Brad

NO HOLDS BARRED—Southwestern (Tenn.) College defensive back Mike McConkey is put on "hold" by a pair of defenders from Principia, while at the same time he lost his hold on the football. Despite coughing it up here, Southwestern had a good grip on victory, winning 45-20.

Carr; and middle guard Ernie Salley, converted from tackle, isn't far behind.

North Carolina feels it could have another 9-2 type club with 15 regulars back. Most difficult to replace is Mike Voight, the record-breaking tailback.

The rest of the explosive backfield returns, though, led by wingback Mel Collins, who averaged 11 yards per carry, 13.2 yards per pass reception and 10.7 yards per punt return. The others starred as freshmen for the Tar Heels last year, quarterback Matt Kupec and 6-2, 247-pound fullback Billy Johnson.

All-ACC tackle Dee Hardison heads a veteran defense.

AT WAKE FOREST COACH CHUCK MILLS hopes season-ending upset wins over Duke and South Carolina carry over into 1977. The Deacons return eight offensive starters, four defensive. The sparkplug is halfback James McDougald, who ran for 1,018 yards last year as a freshman. Linebacker Don Cervi keys the defense.

With 14 starters back, Duke expects to improve its 5-5-1 mark. Quarterback Mike Dunn led the ACC in total offense last year with 1,835 yards, 757 rushing and 1,078 passing, and also led the squad in scoring with 80 points.

Other key returnees are wide receiver Tom Hall, who led the league with 44 catches, and all-ACC linebacker Carl McGee.

At North Carolina State Bo Rein is optimistic he'll better his break-in record of 3-7-1. In fact, he predicts the Wolfpack is going to be "in the middle of the race for the ACC title." Quarterback Johnny Evans has been a national leader in punting for three seasons and in '76 had 1,459 yards of total offense, 942 passing and 517 running.

Junior halfback Ted Brown has been all-ACC twice and rushed for 1,088 yards last year.

THE DEFENSE HAS STANDOUTS in tackle Bubba Green, 6-5 and 272 pounds, and back Ralph Stringer, who missed last season with a shoulder injury.

Clemson hopes to improve its 3-6-2 mark with some old players (17 starters back) and a new head coach, Charley Pell, who made progress with the defensive platoon last year as the departed Red Parker's top assistant.

Quarterback Steve Fuller is expected to lead the charge after piling up 1,338 yards of total offense last year, 835 passing and 503 rushing.

Virginia looks for improvement over last year's 2-9 mark as it goes into its second year of coach Dick Bestwick's five-year building program, even though eight offensive regulars departed. Ten returning defensive regulars provide most of the hope.

SCRAMBLED LEGS—A worm's eye view of the football game between Davidson and Colgate offered a unique perspective of the gridiron warriors. Everything appeared to be legs and cleats in this shot from the intersectional contest that saw Eastern entry Colgate scramble Davidson, 17-7.

BOWED BEFORE BATTLE—Wake Forest's Deacons engage in pregame exercises to ready for battle with Atlantic Coast Conference foe Virginia, and some coaches cruise the area to see if they're doing things right. The Deacons slipped a stitch somewhere, missing out, 18-17.

Appalachian State is expected to win the Southern Conference title if it can find some answers about last year's pass defense, which finished at the bottom of the conference statistical rankings.

Coach Bobby Ross of The Citadel must find replacements for 11 graduated starters. The key returnee is quarterback Marty Crosby, who led the league in passing last year as a sophomore with 110 completions in 202 throws for 1,279 yards.

FURMAN FACES A RUGGED SEASON with 19 regulars gone from last year's 6-4-1 team. The only area which looks strong is the receiving corps, where tight end Brette Simmons and all-conference wide receiver Tommy Southard hold forth.

Marshall expects its first winning team in 13 years with the majority back from last year's 5-6 squad. Coach Frank Ellwood is pleased with the Thundering Herd's speed on offense and muscle on defense, not to mention a promising freshman class.

Coach Bob Waters takes Western Carolina into the Division I ranks for the first time after a 50-28-2 record in Division II, and he's optimistic and enthused despite a lot of inexperience on the squad.

Added motivation and incentive are the key words for the Cats.

A TANGIBLE ASSET IS JUNIOR TAILBACK Darrell Lipford, who rushed for a school record 1,074 yards in nine games, carrying 45 times in one game.

Tennessee-Chattanooga also moves up to the Southern Conference and Division I after its first winning season since 1968. Fifteen regulars are back from the 6-4-1 team of 1976. The offense builds around quarterbacks Tony Merendino and Doug Elstad, who combined for 1,048 passing yards last year.

If East Carolina has as much success as an independent as it did in the Southern Conference, it could rule the roost among the unattached teams.

Pat Dye, heading into his fourth season, has had records of 7-4, then 8-3 and last year 9-2. Just 11 regulars are back; but the linemen are bigger and stronger, and the star runners all are back, headed by halfback Eddie Hicks, who rushed for 897 yards last year, and fullback Willie Hawkins, who ripped for 750.

Linebacker Harold Randolph heads the defense, but a quarterback must be developed.

SLIPPERY 'SKIN—North Carolina State running back Ted Brown found the pigskin a little slippery, losing his grip about the time Penn State's Bill Banks (85) tackled him from the rear. Nittany Lion Bruce Clark (54) lunges for the ball in a game Penn State chalked up, 41-20.

At Memphis State coach Richard Williamson is optimistic after a pair of 7-4 seasons which included two wins over Auburn and one over Ole Miss. Much of the optimism stems from the presence of Lloyd Patterson, all-South independent quarterback last year when he threw for a school record 14 touchdowns.

SOUTH CAROLINA IS COMING OFF ITS FIRST back-to-back winning seasons in 17 years, and coach Jim Carlen, in his third year, has back 14 starters. Quarterback Ron Bass is the key. He passed for 1,320 yards last year, despite injury problems.

Other standouts are split end Philip Logan and offensive tackle Jerome Provence.

Georgia Tech had severe player losses after last year's 4-6-1 campaign.

With something close to optimism coach Pepper Rodgers says, "We expect to be better, but we need a big year from our young players."

Most notable returnees are star linebacker Lucius Sanford and split end Drew Hill, No. 2 nationally last year in kickoff returns.

After a 5-6 debut season at Florida State, Bobby Bowden plans to have his troops throwing plenty this fall. Most notable veterans are quarterback Jimmy Jordan, a freshman last year, and wide receivers Kurt Unglaub and Mike Schumann.

LOU SABAN, WHO COACHED O.J. SIMPSON at Buffalo of the National Football League, can rest his case with another O.J. in his first year at the University of Miami. O.J. Anderson rushed for 918 yards last year.

The Hurricanes have won a total of just five games the past two years, but the schedules ranked with the nation's toughest. Sad news for Miami fans is: The slate is just as tough again this year.

If Southern Mississippi is to improve its 2-9 record, it must find help for one of the most explosive running backs in the country, Ben "Go-Go" Garry, who piled up 1,236 yards last fall. Coach Bobby Collins has one other blue-chip player in offensive tackle Eric Smith, 6-5 and 278 pounds.

Virginia Tech seeks its third straight winning season under Jimmy Sharpe and has plenty of defensive beef, plus a breakaway "burner" in senior halfback Roscoe Coles, who rushed for 1,119 yards last year and has had 13 100-plus games during his career.

Larry Smith expects his second year at Tulane to be a lot better than his first when the Green Wave went 2-9. He keeps 16 regulars from a team which he feels improved each game, despite its record.

The top individual may be tight end Zack Mitchell, 6-5, 240 pounds.

William and Mary has high hopes after a 7-4 season, best for the school in 25 years. Eighteen starters return, 40 of 48 lettermen.

Back are the players who individually led the Southern Conference in the school's farewell season in that circuit, quarterback Tom Rozantz (1,575 yards of total offense) and tailback Jim Kruis (1,164 rushing yards).

Richmond expects to improve its 5-6 record with 13 starters back, including standouts in free safety Jeff Nixon and linebacker Orlandus Branch.

Tennessee State moves into Division I after a 7-2-1 season in which it outscored its opponents, 225 points to 139.

At Florida A&M coach Rudy Hubbard undoubtedly will be seeking answers to why his '76 Rattlers outscored the opposition, 2,517 yards to 1,615, and outgained them in total offense, 3,746 to 3,448, yet were outscored, 230 points to 218.

South Carolina State comes off its winningest season in history (10-1) and has 13 starters back. Quarterback Jesse Prather heads a strong offensive nucleus.

Coach A.L. Williams must do a lot of rebuilding at Northwestern Louisiana State to duplicate last year's 5-5 record. Wide receivers Wyamond Waters and Mike Almond are the top returnees to help in that task.

Virginia Military Institute, 5-5 last year, is an independent now after finishing last in the Southern Conference in total offense and next-to-last in total defense.

Louisville continues its rebuilding program under Vince Gibson. The Cardinals still had a losing record last year, but most of the defeats were less embarrassing (Mississippi State, 30-21; national champion Pittsburgh, 27-6; Alabama, 24-3, and Memphis State, 26-14). The only blowout was a 34-0 loss at the hands of Rutgers.

South Divisions II-III Preview

By TOM MATHEWS

Sports Writer, Birmingham News

If some of the optimism is turned into reality for the deep Dixie's Divisions II and III schools, then they may improve on their postseason form of 1976.

Last season Eastern Kentucky was eliminated in the Division II tourney's first round. The South had no Division III representation in the postseason tournament.

If it hopes to repeat as Gulf South Conference king, Troy State must replace a dozen starters including all-Americas wide receiver Perry Griggs and defensive tackle Charles Pickett. Linebacker Tim Tucker anchors the defense.

Jacksonville State found a fullback in Rolo Weaver and quarterbacks in Bobby Ray Green and Mike Watts in spring drills, but linebackers are still a question mark.

GRADUATION WAS UNKIND to Mississippi College at the offensive line and wide receiver positions. Mickey McMurtry returns at quarterback.

North Alabama has a new coach, Wayne Grubb. The Lions also have 26 lettermen returning, including back Maurice Brawley and all-GSC guard Terry Witherspoon.

Delta State hopes for an improved kicking game and a more consistent offense. It beefed up the offensive line by signing Wayne Morgan and Garvin Sprietsma.

Tennessee-Martin has nine offensive starters back including quarterback Alvin Smalls. GSC defensive player of the year Danny Watkins, a linebacker, is back, too.

New Livingston coach Jack Crowe has experienced personnel in safety Stanley King, quarterback Willie Slater, tight end Randy Bailey and guard Ricky Ford.

Southeastern Louisiana will be hard pressed to equal last season's 9-1-1 campaign, its best in 15 seasons. The backfield has departed as have several top offensive linemen.

To repeat as Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference king, Fort Valley is counting on strong running and passing attacks. The Wildcats first must find a QB.

Alabama A&M has back its starting 11 on offense and eight on defense, and Albany State's rookie coach Whitney Van Cleve has nine offensive starters back.

Quarterback Ernie House and rover Anthony Miller lead Eastern Kentucky's charge to a hoped-for second straight Ohio Valley Conference crown.

AUSTIN PEAY FIRST-YEAR COACH Boots Donnelly rates as his top worry finding three offensive linemen to go with returners Stan Burns and Frank Blick.

Murray State lost only four defensive starters, but three were in the secondary. East Tennessee State must balance an experienced offense and a young defense. Tennessee Tech's fortunes depend on development of its offensive and defensive fronts.

Middle Tennessee State has junked its veer offense with which it averaged 309 yards per game last season. Senior fullback Mike Moore, 2,500 yards in two seasons, returns.

Western Kentucky has swapped the I-formation for the split backfield set.

Depth, experience, wide receiver James Woodson and quarterback Sam Cosby help account for a bright outlook by St. Paul's Fighting Tigers in the Central Intercollegiate.

Norfolk State needs revamping, and Hampton Institute hopes its defense and running attack do not continue to be problem areas. Elizabeth City State freshman tailback Charlie Watford is expected to make a reserve out of some starter from last year.

Quarterback Ellsworth Turner, who led the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference in passing, scoring and total offense, is back for North Carolina A&T.

Delaware State College's strong suit is its secondary, while in the College Athletic Conference, Southwestern at Memphis parts only with starter Charles Bradburn.

Among independents Johns Hopkins has 18 starters back but lost tight end Mike Rhodery. This will be Davidson's first year at the Division II level in over a decade.

Western Maryland hopes an improved defense makes Jim Hindman's first season a successful one. Returning are middle guard Buck Horsey and end Ricci Bonaccoursy.

Graduation depleted Randolph-Macon's defense and kicking game. The Jackets hope the offense will carry the early burdens until the defense comes around.

Hampden-Sydney will be hard pressed to duplicate last year's 7-4 record, as five offensive and six defensive starters have departed.

For Emory and Henry, quarterback Mike Roberts heads up the offensive returners.

Bowie State has as its major priority finding a quarterback. Millsaps lost its backfield as well as key personnel on the offensive and defensive lines.

Washington and Lee returns eight offensive starters including quarterback Ted Hissey. James Madison University, formerly Madison College, needs to find tailbacks to replace Ron Stith and Bernard Slayton. Maryville College returns 17 starters.

Gallaudet has back its MVP, Mike Farnady, and top defender Ken Dramer.

Sweet Smell In Midwest Might Be Irish Success Not Big Ten Roses

By JOHN BANSCH

*Sports Writer, Indianapolis Star
Director, Football Writers Association of America*

On a warm, late summer evening in 1976, Bo Schembechler glanced over a depth chart of his young Michigan football team, looked up and announced, "If we're any good this fall, next year scares me."

Well, the Wolverines were good last autumn—very, very good.

But while Schembechler has no reason to be scared about this season, a lot of other coaches are wary of Michigan.

Once again, it appears to be the same story in the Midwest.

MICHIGAN AND OHIO STATE SHOULD RANK among the nation's top gridiron powers along with Notre Dame, which may have its best season in several years.

For the tenth straight autumn, the Wolverines and Buckeyes are the clear-cut, early-line favorites in the Big Ten's version of the "Run for the Roses," even though both lost some key players via graduation, especially on the defensive side.

The remainder of the Big Ten looks to be fairly well bunched, but none of the clubs are as strong as Michigan and OSU.

In the Mid-American Conference it's a wide-open race as the other nine clubs take a shot at defending champion Ball State, which rocked the form chart while capturing the title in its second year as a member of the MAC.

There are four new coaches in the Big Ten and MAC—all with backgrounds from the state of Michigan. Three are former Wolverine assistants, while the fourth is Bowling Green's Denny Stolz, once the head man at Michigan State.

Two of the new mentors were one-time defensive coordinators at Michigan under Schembechler — Purdue's Jim Young and Illinois' Gary Moeller.

YOUNG CAME TO the Boilermakers from Arizona, where he was the head coach four years.

Moeller went directly from Michigan to Illinois.

The fourth new tutor is Toledo's, Chuck Stobart, also an assistant on last year's Michigan staff.

While most of the college fans await the Michigan-Ohio

John Bansch, a graduate of the University of Montana, started his writing with the Great Falls (Mont.) Leader.

Currently president of the Indiana Associated Press Sports Editor Association, he is past president of the Indianapolis press club.

He also is associate chairman of the Columbus, Ohio, hub in the AP setup.

Bansch is closing in on a 20-year career with the Star, having signed on in 1958. He was named assistant sports editor in 1967.

In addition to his toils for college football, he writes a weekly column and covers Big Ten basketball.

GOING FOR THE PIN—Michigan State linebacker Paul Rudzinski (37) makes like a wrestler to put an end to the progress of Wyoming's Don Clayton. Spartans watching Rudzinski down the Cowboy ball carrier are Tom Hannon (45) and Mike Dean (82) in a 21-10 victory for the Staters.

State confrontation November 19 at Ann Arbor, Notre Dame could be stealing the thunder in Dan Devine's third year as coach of the Fighting Irish.

Even though Devine says, "If we are to accomplish anything of note this season, we are going to have to come up with some key performers in several crucial positions," Notre Dame is as well prepared for 1977 as any team.

AS DEVINE LOOKS FOR REPLACEMENTS for quarterback Rick Slager and wide receiver Dan Kelleher, he can smile as he watches mammoth tight end Ken MacAfee, defensive ends Ross Browner and Willie Fry, defensive back Luther Bradley and running backs Al Hunter, Vagas Ferguson and Jerome Heavens go through their paces.

Hunter rushed for 1,160 yards in 1976—the first time an Irish back ever has topped the 1,000 standard. Ferguson blossomed halfway through his freshman year and adds power to the ground game. Heavens missed much of last season with knee problems after an outstanding freshman campaign. He's expected to be ready this fall.

Top candidates to replace Slager are juniors Rusty Lisch and Joe Montana. Lisch performed well late last season when Slager was injured. Montana was slated to be No. 2 in 1976, but a shoulder separation prior to the season sidelined him all year.

DEFENSIVELY ALL 11 STARTERS return for the Irish, who were 9-3 in 1976 including an impressive triumph over Penn State in the Gator Bowl.

Michigan's 12-game schedule has proven too long the last two seasons, with the Wolverines losing to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl and Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl, but Schembechler would like another dozen games this trip.

Despite the loss of such stars as Big Ten rushing champion Rob Lytle, termed "the greatest back I've ever coached" by Schembechler; wingback Jim Smith; strong safety Jerry Zuver; linebacker Calvin O'Neal, and defensive tackle Greg Morton, the Wolverines have no intentions of vacating their top rung.

The highly productive option offense centers around junior quarterback Rich Leach, tailback Harlan Huckleby and fullback Russell Davis. Opening holes in opposing defenses is the job for such stalwarts as guard Mark Donahue and tackle Bill Dufek.

"We are even going to try and accommodate people who want us to throw more," said Schembechler with a hint at humor.

The Wolverine coach calls Ohio State "the team to beat." He has strong reasons to make that statement—maybe 15 of them.

The Buckeyes have seven offensive regulars and eight defensive starters returning.

Offensively OSU is strong with quarterback Rod Gerald being joined by Jeff Logan, who powered and scooted his way to 1,248 yards in 1976.

A name for which to watch is Ron Springs, who showed well in Ohio State's Bowl decision over Colorado. All-America tackle Chris Ward heads the offensive line.

Tackle Eddie Beamon and middle guard Aaron Brown headline a rugged defensive squad which includes linebacker Tom Cousineau, safety Ray Griffin and cornerback Tom Roche.

Missing from the Scarlet and Gray are fullback Pete Johnson, the 240-pound fullback who was the Big Ten scoring champ the last two seasons, plus defensive linemen Nick Buonamici and Bob Brudzinski.

Moeller has denounced any suggestions Illinois is going through a rebuilding situation. If the players can adjust quickly to new offensive and defensive formations, the Illini can challenge for the top spot and a bowl bid.

Moeller plans to use an I-formation backfield with pro and slot variations.

Defensively he's dropping the eight-man front and going with three down linemen, four linebackers and a four-deep secondary.

The Illini have an experienced player at all of the skill positions, including quarterback Kirk Steger. Eric Rouse returns as the top wide receiver, and James Coleman is back to carry the football.

Coleman led Illinois last year in rushing, kickoff returns and scoring.

Two key defensive players return after a year's absence because of injuries—linebacker John Sullivan and back Bill Cerney.

Sullivan, a smart player with size and ideal lateral movement and quickness, could be the best at his position in the Big Ten.

The defensive line has the tools—6-4, 225-pound Walter Graham at one tackle; 6-7, 265-pound Bruce Thornton at the other tackle, and Stanley Ralph at nose guard.

Coach Lee Corso's crusade to build a championship team at Indiana may not have turned the corner in 1976 but at worst got up even to it—enough to peek around it cautiously. The Hoosiers finished in a four-way tie for third in the Big Ten at 4-4.

They were 5-6 for the full season, and they did it under handicaps few would have predicted they even could survive.

With injuries sidelining key players early, including the first three tailbacks, Indiana called on stubby Mike Harkrader. The little back responded by becoming the first freshman in Big Ten history to pass the 1,000-yard rushing mark. His average for eight conference games was 103.1, second best in the league.

Even Harkrader eventually went down, suffering a broken ankle in the finale at Purdue. This time he's joined in the backfield by a healthy Darrick Burnett plus fullback Ric Enis, tailback Tony Suggs and quarterback Scott Arnett.

Arnett came on strong as a sophomore.

Also returning is flanker Keith Calvin, a four-year starter, plus much of the offensive line. More replacements are necessary in the defensive unit, but the bubbly Corso is looking for the Hoosiers to have their best season in a decade.

"I'LL TAKE HIM, YOU GET THE BALL," Western Michigan's Dave Gapinski (20) urges teammate Tony Townsend. The two had Eastern Michigan's Carlos Henderson well under control, while the ball floated loose after the tackle. Western earned a 31-13 Mid-American Conference victory.

Michigan State hopes to better the 4-6-1 showing which marked Darryl Rogers' first year as head coach there.

Spartan quarterback Ed Smith is a key reason for the enthusiasm. Rewriting much of MSU's record book, Smith passed for 1,749 yards in 10 games en route to the Big Ten passing and total offense crowns. Against North Carolina State Smith passed for 324 yards—the best single-game effort in the conference last autumn.

Joining Smith to make the air game click are receivers Kirk Gibson, Gene Byrd and Mark Brammer. Gibson topped the league catchers a year ago and set an MSU single-season mark of 748 yards gained via receptions.

THE SPARTAN DEFENSE, LAST IN THE BIG TEN IN 1976, looks improved. Rogers anticipates linebacker Kim Rowekamp and back Tom Graves returning at full efficiency after missing last season with injuries.

Also back is defensive tackle Larry Bethea, all-Big Ten two years ago.

At Purdue, Young must replace seven offensive starters.

He is searching for a quarterback, who just may be a freshman; a running back to replace the versatile Scott Dierking, and five offensive linemen.

The Boilermakers did not complete a touchdown pass a year ago. Young hopes to change that this season. He also is relying heavily on fullback John Skibinski.

Defensively the outlook is better. All-league Paul Berry returns in the secondary. Roger Ruwe, out last year with an injury, is back at middle guard, and he has Cleveland Pittsburgh Crosby at a tackle.

The linebacking is solid with Mike Burgamy, Kevin Motts and Fred Arrington.

WISCONSIN PLAYS A WIDE-OPEN, ENTERTAINING style of football, and in halfback Ira Matthews the Badgers boast one of the nation's most exciting players. He led the nation in kickoff returns in '76 and headed the Big Ten punt returners.

In addition to returning two kickoffs for touchdowns, Matthews ran 535 yards from scrimmage, caught 19 passes for 238 yards and became the only Badger in history to score TDs by running, pass reception and punt and kickoff returns in a single season.

Running back Mike Morgan, coming off knee surgery, is expected to add greatly to the free-wheeling offense. Until injured the swift ball carrier averaged 6.2 a carry.

Deep back Scott Erdmann and linebacker Dave Crossen head the defense. Erdmann intercepted seven passes a year ago for coach John Jardine.

Cal Stoll can't wait for Minnesota's season to start.

"Based on the number of experienced people we have coming back, we could have the toughest team put together during my six years here," says the Gopher coach.

To do that Stoll has to find a replacement for Tony Dungy.

THE DEPARTED QUARTERBACK WAS THE BUSIEST PLAYER in the Big Ten last autumn—being involved in 257 plays. His four-year total offense mark was 4,722 yards, fourth best in conference history.

Minnesota's defense is sound. Steve Midboe, a 230-pound tackle, leads a veteran unit. The inside running game centers around Ken Kitzman, who paced Gopher backs a year ago with 696 yards.

Iowa's situation is much the same as Indiana's. The Hawkeyes were 5-6 in 1976, their best mark in seven years. Coach Bob Commings is in his fourth year at Iowa with a squad that has more depth and talent than any of his three previous clubs.

Sixteen starters return to face a tough schedule which includes intrastate foe Iowa State on September 17.

Commings hopes to construct a more consistent attack, and the passing proficiency needs improvement. A veteran interior line anchored by center Jim Hilgenberg, Mike Mayer, Gary Evans and Barry Tomasetti should be stronger. The running attack appears balanced with Jon Lazar, Ernie Sheeler and Tommy Renn doing the bulk of the work.

SWEEPIN' AND DUSTIN'—While Ohio Wesleyan quarterback Bob Mauck (17) sweeps right, the folks from DePauw are dustin' up a storm to further cloud the scene. Not to be daunted by bodies or clouds, Mauck led the Bishops to a 23-20 triumph in the opening game of the '76 campaign.

Iowa ranked third in total defense in the Big Ten a year ago, and only three members of the two-deep are departed. Linebacker Tom Rusk, walk-on cornerback Rod Sears and the front four of Doug Benschoter, Steve Vazquez, Joe Hufford and Dan Schultz lend promise to the belief this may be the Hawkeyes' best defense in many a season.

Even though Northwestern lost many of its finest athletes in flanker Scott Yelvington, quarterback Randy Dean, tailback Greg Boykin and safety Pete Shaw and was 1-10 in 1976, coach John Pont has no apprehension about the upcoming campaign.

PONT WANTS TO TALK ABOUT FIVE returning starters in the offensive line and Paul Maly, a three-year starter at middle guard who is moving to linebacker.

Pont calls quarterback the Wildcats' main concern and adds, "Our method of offensive attack will be in a state of flux until that position is settled."

Ball State is going to be hard pressed to retain its Mid-American crown. Even though coach Dave McClain welcomes 36 lettermen, he must replace all-MAC quarterback Art Yaroch (1,777 yards total offense), leading rusher Earl Taylor and both linebackers.

The Cardinal returnees include two all-conference performers—wide receiver Rick Morrison and defensive back Maurice Harvey. Ball State's defensive line returns intact, and the offensive line looks solid.

Another top performer should be wide receiver Mike Andress.

STOLZ HAS SEVEN BOWLING GREEN starters returning from the MAC's top total offense unit of a year ago. Back in coaching after a year's hiatus, Stolz has aerial wizard Mark Miller at quarterback. Miller threw for 1,839 yards and 13 touchdowns in 1976.

The Falcon quarterback can throw to the three top receivers from a year ago—Jeff Groth, Willie Matthews and Dave Dudley.

The key to the offense could be the effectiveness of fullback Dan Saleet, who gained more than 1,100 yards in 1975, then missed last year with knee surgery. And says Stolz, "We've got to overhaul our defense, because it wasn't very good last season."

Central Michigan ranks high with MAC analysts. Fifteen starters return for Chippewa coach Roy Kramer including three-fourths of the offensive backfield, the linebacking corps and one of the league's better kicking games.

Tight end Wayne Schwalbach and defensive back Ed Rykalski were all-league in '76.

The problem areas are the offensive line and defensive secondary where some replacements have to be found.

As usual Central Michigan is expected to be physical and fundamentally sound.

Eastern Michigan coach Ed Chlebek believes he has "a good foundation upon which to build a program." He needs it in his second year at the institution, because the Hurons were an unimpressive 2-9 last year.

Chlebek must replace his entire offensive line but does have quarterback Steve Raklovits and tailback Bobby Windom back.

Kent State was the surprise team of the MAC a year ago, tying for second at 6-2. It can finish just as high this time with quarterback Mike Whalen returning behind a veteran line. The best performers for the Golden Flashes are linebacker Jack Lazor and wide receiver Kim Featsent.

Missing is halfback Art Best who rushed for 1,030 yards and scored 10 touchdowns.

Miami is an enigma. Long a ball control team and steeped in defense, the Redskins dropped to eighth in both rushing offense and total defense.

After winning three straight league titles and an equal number of Tangerine Bowls, Miami fell to 3-8 for its first losing season in 35 years.

The Redskins had a problem at quarterback a year ago, and it doesn't appear it has been solved. Top returnees are middle guard Jack Glowik and defensive end Greg Sullivan. On paper the Redskins look to be about the same as last year, but maybe they weren't as bad as their record.

Second-year Northern Illinois coach Pat Culpepper tackles as tough a rebuilding job as there is in the country. After a 1-10 campaign, Culpepper depends almost entirely upon sophomores and incoming freshmen.

SIDE WINDER—Leaving three would-be tacklers from DePauw in his wake, Wabash College quarterback Dave Harvey (11) struggles to keep his balance in attempting to elude one more defender, DePauw's Kreg Kephart. Wabash had things leaning its way at the conclusion of the get together, 14-7.*

Sophomore linebacker Frank Lewandoski heads those back in harness.

No team in the conference is more blessed with returning veterans than Ohio University, which tied for second last season.

Bobcat quarterback Andy Vetter was national back of the week last fall, and tailback Arnold Welcher is coming off his second consecutive 1,000-yard plus season.

"We have a nucleus of excellent football players, and if we can find adequate replacements for our graduating seniors, we can make a real bid for the title," says Ohio coach Bill Hess, capsulizing his team's outlook.

There is a new philosophy at Toledo.

PASSING HAS BEEN STRESSED in recent years, but Stobart is expected to bring his Michigan indoctrination of a strong running game to the Rockets.

"Our objectives are to solve the quarterback problem and find starters at tight end, offensive guard and defensive end," says Stobart.

Normally strong defensively, Toledo's defenders this season feature linebacker-middle guard Aaron Bivins, the league's defensive player of the year in 1976.

Western Michigan has a difficult schedule, opening at Minnesota and playing eight MAC teams. The Broncos also have some of the best personnel in the league, starting with tailback Jerome Persell, a legitimate all-America candidate.

Persell rushed for 1,505 yards last year and scored 19 touchdowns. He's joined in the backfield by Keith Rogien, a first-class fullback.

Ten defensive starters also return and coach Elliot Uzelac says, "I feel we have the best personnel and speed we've ever had at the skilled positions on offense, but to improve we've got to find capable replacements in the line and at quarterback."

INDEPENDENT ILLINOIS STATE has a new coach in Chuck Cowdrey. He inherits a battle-tested defensive unit but must breathe new life into the offense.

Cowdrey sought immediate help from the junior college ranks, bringing in five players with speed. Only one offensive lineman has departed. Tackle Bill Bunting returns as does split end Jeff Gowan, who caught 48 passes last fall.

Cincinnati, after laying to rest the notion of phasing out its football program, has new coach Ralph Staub handling the reins. The former Ohio State assistant huddled with an equally new staff during spring drills to analyze their personnel.

Keys to the defensive picture are linebackers Mike Woods ('76 team MVP) and Dwayne Berry and middle guard Howie Kurnick.

Art Bailey has an inside track on the quarterback job after splitting time with the departed Henry Miller last season. Tailback Curtiss Williams, Cincy's leading rusher a year ago, and offensive tackle Gardner Cobb are other important returnees.

Midwest Divisions II-III Preview

By JIM WELLS

Sports Writer, St. Paul Pioneer Press

In Collegeville, Minnesota, people like to draw analogies between their football coach and Marquette's former basketball pilot, Al McGuire.

Like McGuire, John Gagliardi of St. John's has a million and one philosophical anecdotes. Although McGuire's wit is street-oriented and Gagliardi's the backwoods humor of secluded Collegeville, they serve essentially the same purpose.

Both men have been highly successful despite their self-proclaimed lack of knowledge in their respective fields. Both won national championships last season.

Last year Gagliardi's St. John's club ran roughshod over Augustana (Ill.) and Buena Vista (Iowa) and then held off a furious rally by a superb Towson State club to claim a 31-28 victory and the Division III title in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

St. John's has won three consecutive Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles and is expected to make it four straight in 1977.

GAGLIARDI HAS THE PRINCIPALS of last year's championship season back in camp this year, including quarterback Jeff Norman and fullback Tim Schmitz, who helped the Johnnies set playoff records for rushing, scoring and total offense.

Any surprises in the MIAC this season must come from St. Thomas, St. Olaf or Concordia, the three clubs that finished behind St. John's with 5-2 records last year.

In the Northern Intercollegiate Conference, two-time defending champion Minnesota-Morris must come up with a replacement for its superb quarterback, Chuck Senkyr, and his swift wide receiver, Herb Bradley.

NIC runners-up Minnesota-Duluth and Michigan Tech lost the league's prize running backs. Duluth's Ted McKnight beat out Tech's Jim VanWagner on the last play of the season for the Division II rushing and scoring titles. Both are hard to replace.

St. Cloud State lost its biggest scoring threats as well with the graduation of quarterback Steve Erickson and his fleet wide receiver, John Kimbrough.

The Ohio Athletic Conference and Wittenberg are nearly synonymous. The Tigers have been the league's perennial powerhouse the past 20 years and after their remarkable championship effort in 1976 again are the team to beat.

The Tigers won the conference's Red Division and then beat Blue Division winner Baldwin-Wallace for the league championship after jelling late in the season.

Tailback Dave Merritt and quarterback Bill Hauser are back to power the Tigers offensively, and linebacker Bob Foster returns after missing the 1976 season.

OHIO NORTHERN COULD BE STRONGER than last year when it was edged out by Wittenberg for the Red Division crown. Success depends on the availability of Clarence Walker and Steve Decker—both missed the 1976 season with injuries.

Baldwin-Wallace was injury-plagued last year and still managed to go 5-0 in the Blue Division race. The Yellow Jackets are loaded with veterans.

Otterbein, behind running backs Wayne Cummerlander and Mike Nichols and quarterback Bill Hillier, might be this year's Blue Division powerhouse.

In the Midwest Conference, Cornell should be favored to repeat as conference champion. The Rams return 17 starters, including offensive leaders Chris Hipsley and Aaron Van Dyke. They have back two superb receivers in Steve Dean and Bill Brinkman. On defense nine players return from a club that held opponents to 11 points a game.

Ripon, which lost a 24-22 decision to Cornell for the conference title, is the defending East Division champion and returns eight of 12 all-conference players. The offense operates with running backs Jay Poe and Dick Hoya and quarterback Jeff Johnson.

Wabash and St. Joseph's College of the Indiana Collegiate Conference hope to improve on their 1976 seasons and have the material to do so.

Wabash is without all-America roverback Jimmy Parker but returns 15 starters, including linebackers Mike O'Quin and Bill Cannon plus quarterback Dave Harvey.

St. Joseph's returns key personnel on offense and defense.

Watch out for Wayne State in 1977. WSU was 8-2 last season and is optimistic of improving on that record with 19 starters back. The Tartars' first goal of the season is reclaiming the Great Lakes Intercollegiate title they last won in 1975.

Hillsdale, meanwhile, hopes to improve on a 5-5 record behind an experienced crew. Returning are fullback Steve Rodick and defensive back Dan Kelly.

Albion College of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association expects nothing but continued success after a 9-0 season in 1976. The defensive minded Britons allowed only 130 yards and 5.4 points a game, both Division III bests. Seven of Albion's defensive starters are back, including all-America tackle Steve Spencer.

Hope College finished second in the MIAA a year ago with a 6-3 record and is hopeful of improving on last season. Senior quarterback Mark Boyce, fullback Mike Skelton and wingback Kevin Clark are the leading players.

Among independents the University of Akron lost 11 starters from the 1976 squad that finished as the Division II runner-up to Montana State but has key players back around which to build. Quarterback Marty Bezbatchenko, tailback Dave Axner, tackle Jeff Jesko and all-America linebacker Steve Cockerham are key returnees.

Western Illinois lost its entire secondary in addition to its starting quarterback but hopes that a competitive schedule sharpens the replacements.

Central State University (Okla.) returns 19 starters, including running backs Kevin Scott and Barrett Paige, and expects to be one of the better teams in Division II.

Eastern Illinois started fast last year but finished with a 5-6 record. Running backs Mark Stettner and Chris Cobb give the Panthers hope of playing more consistently.

WALKING ON AIR—Albion's James Haskins (54) finds an upper avenue more suitable to his chosen path, as he joins Steve Spencer (76) in plugging up the middle against Wabash College. The Britons allowed Wabash little room to operate in charging to a 36-0 victory.

Both Barrels Loaded At Oklahoma For Another Big Eight Shootout

By BOB HENTZEN

*Sports Editor, Topeka Capital-Journal
Director, Football Writers Association of America*

The whole team didn't come down with swine flu. The starting backfield didn't break its legs. The defensive line didn't flunk out.

But in 1976 there was a black cloud hanging over Oklahoma's head.

The Sooners started out without many of the stars from their previous year's national championship team. Then their defensive backfield, OU's strongest area, was wiped out by injuries. So was stellar middle guard Reggie Kinlaw.

Starting quarterback Dean Blevins was hurt early, meaning a freshman had to run OU's wishbone. All-America offensive tackle Mike Vaughan was hobbled late.

TO TOP IT OFF, THE NEWSPAPERS WERE FULL OF STORIES involving alleged spying and ticket scalping. A lesser program would have crumbled.

But Oklahoma came on strong to tie for the Big Eight title and demolish Wyoming, 41-7, in the Fiesta Bowl, finishing 8-2-1.

Now, in a word, the Sooners are loaded. Eighteen starters return, and it wouldn't surprise anybody in Oklahoma—in fact, they kind of expect it—for Barry Switzer's team to claim a third national championship in four years.

"This team is not in the class of our national championship teams yet," says a cautious Switzer. "We have good, experienced players, but we don't possess the super talent we did during those years."

The football world expects to find out about the Sooners early, September 24 to be exact.

That's the day they visit Columbus to play Ohio State.

Oklahoma, on reputation as well as returnees, goes in a heavy Big Eight favorite.

BUT THE WINGS are full of challengers if the Sooners stumble. Colorado, Nebraska and Oklahoma State all were in bowls last season and didn't lose all their horses.

And you can't count out Iowa State, 8-3, nor Missouri, which whipped Southern Cal and Ohio State but wound up sixth.

In the Missouri Valley it looks wide open as defending co-champion Tulsa has a new coach, John Cooper from the Bob Hentzen, operating in the heart of Big Eight country, is a native of the midlands.

Despite his Nebraska roots, he somehow committed his college "rah-rahs" to the University of Oklahoma.

After his Sooner days, he gained some newspaper experience in Oklahoma before moving on to the Capital-Journal.

Hentzen had been with the Topeka paper 10 years when he was named sports editor in '68.

The Football Writers Association director is a past president of the U.S. Basketball Writers

Association and covers pro sports in Kansas City in addition to his Big Eight duties.

IN HARM'S WAY—Nebraska cornerback Dave Butterfield (34) showed little hesitation in lunging in front of a Texas Christian kick, while teammate Tony Samuel (98) exhibited similar courage attempting to block the flight of the ball. The Huskers had plenty of heroes in a 64-10 win.

Kentucky staff, and the task of rebuilding the defense. New Mexico State, despite an overall 4-6-1 mark, shared the title with the Hurricane and returns a school record 48 lettermen.

Two other new coaches appear in the Valley—Bill Yung from the Baylor staff at West Texas State and Chuck Shelton at Drake. And Southern Illinois and Indiana State make their debuts in the now seven-team title race.

The best player in the Midlands, a genuine Heisman candidate, looms as Oklahoma State running back Terry Miller, who rushed for more than 1,600 yards as a junior.

"If he doesn't get the Heisman this year, then they ought to quit giving it," says coach Jim Stanley.

Miller heads a cast of returning all-Big Eight players that includes Missouri slotback Joe Stewart, who led the league with 45 catches for 834 yards; Kansas State linebacker Gary Spani; Oklahoma State defensive end Daria Butler, and Oklahoma linebacker Daryl Hunt and defensive back Zac Henderson.

Thomas Lott, the freshman who was playing like a senior at season's end, is the quarterback in Oklahoma's wishbone, and he has some guys to hand the ball who are bound to give opposing defensive coordinators headaches.

The runners include Elvis Peacock, a two-year regular with 9.4 speed; Kenny King, the fullback who led the team in rushing with 791 yards, and Billy Sims, who Switzer expects to be a great one if he can shake the injuries that have plagued him.

Guard Jaime Melendez (6-1, 250-pounds) and tight end Victor Hicks (6-4, 240) head the offensive line that has everybody back except Vaughan. Kinlaw (6-2, 230), who underwent knee surgery last year; Hunt (6-4, 220) and Henderson are the defensive studs.

Colorado features a pro-size offensive line, but the question mark is who is going to run behind it. Quarterback Jeff Knappe is the only backfield returnee. The top tailback possibility might be Eddie Walker, who was the leading junior college runner in the nation last season with 1,594 yards and 20 touchdowns. Leon White (6-3, 271) is typical of what the Buffs have up front. He's moving from tackle to center.

"Our defense has the potential to be good, but I'm concerned about nose guard," says coach Bill Mallory, who had a dandy there last year in Charlie Johnson. Rover Mark Haynes, who started as a freshman; cornerback Otis McKinney, with five interceptions; tackle Ruben Vaughan, and linebacker Brian Cabral are defensive stickouts.

NEBRASKA MUST REPLACE SIX of its best players, including three all-Big Eight selections, on offense; but coach Tom Osborne says, "We could be just as good on offense as we were last year." For that to happen the Huskers must receive come-through performances from Randy Garcia, the apparent successor to all-America quarterback Vince Ferragamo, and powerful runner Monte Anthony, who missed spring drills after undergoing shoulder surgery. Richard Berns, who rushed for 854 yards after Anthony had wrist problems last year, returns at tailback. Ken Spaeth (6-5, 230) is a solid tight end.

The Huskers lost five on defense, including all-Americans Dave Butterfield at cornerback and Mike Fultz at tackle. "Right now the defensive line is as big of a worry as we've got, but in the end it could be a strong point," Osborne says.

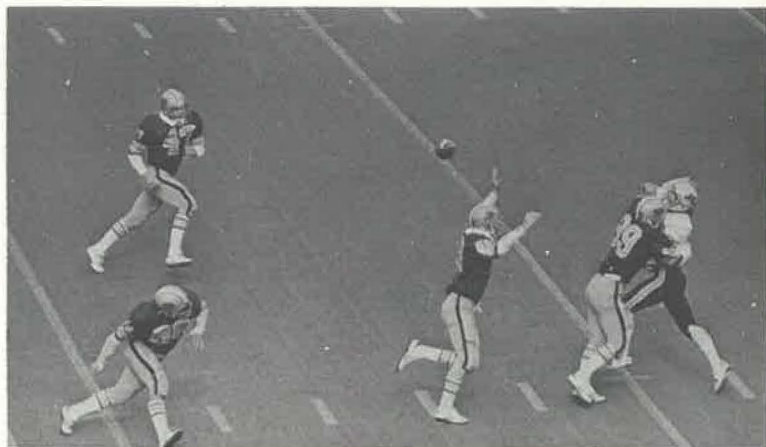

He particularly likes nose guard Jeff Pullen, a little one at 6-0 and 215, and backs Ted Harvey and Larry Valasek on his defensive platoon.

OKLAHOMA STATE FACES A MASSIVE offensive overhaul because Miller is the lone starter returning. But Skip Taylor, who backed both Miller and the departed Robert Turner, is a proven runner for the Cowboys.

At quarterback both Harold Bailey and Scott Burk have experience. The offensive line is green, but there are some awesome physical specimens such as 6-9, 320-pound Milton Hardaway and wrestler Jim Clark, who checks in at 6-7 and 255.

Hard-hitting linebacker John Corker and super-quick Butler are excellent starting blocks for a good defense, but Stanley must have others come through.

Iowa State, the surprise of 1976, suffered a setback even before spring ball when quarterback Buddy Hardeman flunked out. That development apparently left the job to inexperienced Mike Tyron and redshirt sophomore Terry Rubley.

SLOW ON THE DRAW—North Dakota State didn't give Augustana quarterback Rick Chounard much time to get off his pass, defensive end Greg Scarborough (99) rushing him first. Linebacker Jerry Rosburg (59) just missed an interception as did Don Meyer (86) in North Dakota State's 21-0 win.

If Terry Miller wasn't in the league, the Cyclones probably would boast the flashiest back in Dexter Green, who rambled for 1,074 yards.

Tackles Mike Stensrud (6-4, 270) and Tom Randall (6-6, 245) are among only four defensive returnees, but coach Earle Bruce recruited three juco all-Americans and said, "This will be the best defensive team we've had since I've been here."

Missouri coach Al Onofrio also isn't singing the blues, even though he has only nine starters returning overall. The offense continues to be explosive with Pete Woods, who engineered the upsets of Ohio State and Nebraska, returning at quarterback.

In Joe Stewart and 5-9, 160-pound Leo Lewis, Onofrio says he has "the best set of receivers around." Tough 230-pound Rich Dansdill returns at fullback, but a tailback must be found to fill the shoes of departed Curtis Brown. Tackle James Taylor (6-5, 270) is the premier player up front.

Keith Morrissey (6-5, 230) again should be one of the Big Eight's best linemen, if he can avoid further knee problems. He may move from tackle to linebacker. As usual, the Tigers take on a demanding schedule even before getting into Big Eight play. They start with Southern Cal and follow with Illinois, California and Arizona State.

Kansas could be this season's sleeper. Bud Moore's wishbone outfit went into a tailspin

NOT A HEADS UP PLAY—Nebraska fullback Dodie Donnell (45) had his world turned upside-down by a trio of Kansas Jayhawks, who weren't nearly this rude to their guests during most of the action from a Big Eight contest in Lawrence, Kansas. The Cornhuskers walked away with a 31-3 verdict.

last season after losing quarterback Nolan Cromwell to knee surgery but rebounded to flog Missouri, 41-14, in its finale.

Mark Vicendese, who quarterbacked that game, has a challenge from California juco standout Brian Bethke. Billy Campfield and Norris Banks return as runners, and John Mascarello and center Mike Wellman head the offensive line.

There are defensive gaps to fill, and Moore is particularly looking for a linebacker to pair with Tom Dinkel, who also has sparkled at end. Nose guard Dennis Balagna (6-1, 240) and guard Franklin King (6-0, 265) are starting for the third straight year, and strong safety Tom Fitch lends experience to a young secondary.

Kansas State didn't beat anybody after Brigham Young was its victim in the 1976 opener, but coach Ellis Rainsberger has legitimate reasons to think the Wildcats are on the comeback trail. The offensive unit returns intact, including dynamite little (5-9, 155) QB Wendell Henrikson, who passed for 1,066 yards after not playing until midseason.

The offensive line includes the likes of tackle Bob Thompson, 6-8 and 275 pounds.

FOR A CHANGE THE DEFENSIVE SIDE is suspect with only four starters returning. But one of them is Gary Späni, who Rainsberger calls "a true all-America, everything you look for in a linebacker." Clyde Brinson is developing into a good cornerback.

In the Valley Tulsa shifts from the veer to the slot-I, and Cooper inherits leading rusher Rickey Watts and all-conference tight end Marcus Hatley. Juniors Dave Rader and Mike Loyd battle for the quarterback spot vacated by Ron Hickerson. Center Bob Mogelnicki (6-2, 225) and tackle Harold Hamilton (6-4, 250) are solid up front.

The Hurricane led the league in all defensive categories last season, but the losses were severe with the biggest holes in the backfield.

NEW MEXICO STATE ALSO IS UNVEILING a new offense, a pro set. "We plan to put the ball in the air," says coach Jim Bradley, who can pick from among five quarterbacks—two veterans and three juco transfers. Senior Blaine Miller was No. 1 last season before suffering an injury.

Stanley Sam, who fielded 31 passes last year, heads the receiving corps and seniors Garry Hull (6-4, 252) and Charlie Wanza (6-0, 230) the offensive line.

The linebacking crew is untested, but otherwise the defensive platoon boasts both talent and experience. All-conference back Raymond Milo and tackle André Anderson (6-7, 258) are the stars.

Wichita State coach Jim Wright must come up with a quarterback to replace Sam Adkins, and the man could be California junior college product Jim Andrus.

The offensive returnees include fullback Jeff Haney, who ran for 731 yards, and receivers Bob Cicero and Brian Hanning.

The defensive side features nose guard Clem Jankowski, linebacker Ron Shumon and secondary men Mike Landrum and Tony Sumler. The Shockers must contend with two Big Eight foes, Iowa State and Kansas State, before getting into league play.

WEST TEXAS STATE IS AIMING FOR THE TOP with 10 offensive starters returning from a 4-5-2 team, including four all-conference selections. Heading the list is 190-pound junior Robert Mayberry, who gained 668 of his 843 yards in the last five games. He is the tailback in Yung's new slot-I attack, teaming with Bo Robinson, who rumbled for 725 yards in 1976. The quarterback spot is open.

Tackle William Fifer and guard Richard Perez are the leaders in the offensive line. Mike Lusane (6-4, 250) and linebacker Larry Spears figure to be the defensive stars.

At Drake, Shelton moves up from an assistant's role with 19 players with starting experience returning from a 1-10 team. "We figure our strengths to be in the offensive and defensive lines and good depth at linebacker and at the receivers," he says.

"We need to work on our secondary and the kicking game, and we must develop a strong, versatile running back."

The thing the Bulldogs may do best is pass with 6-6, 235-pound Dan Dodd the arm and split end Paul Proffitt and tight end Pat Tuttle the hands.

Southern Illinois bows into the Valley race without Andre Herrera, the nation's No. 3 rusher, but coach Rey Dempsey figures big (6-1, 202) and fast (4.5 in the 40) Gary Linton can fill those shoes. The quarterback picture is jumbled.

The top returnees from a 7-4 team are 6-5, 240-pound tight end Greg Warren, linebacker Dan Brown (the tackles and interceptions leader) and defensive back Ron Geels.

Indiana State coach Tom Harp, after a 3-7 season, welcomes back 10 defensive starters among 33 lettermen. But the offensive picture isn't as bright with guard Tony Suriano the only returnee in the line. Quarterbacks Pete McCoy and Dave Pearre can throw to leading receiver Mike Brantley and explosive Royce Allen, who caught the Sycamores' only three touchdown passes in 1976.

To make possible the seven-team title race, Valley commissioner Mickey Holmes has designated the following three non-conference games to count in the standings: Tulsa at Cincinnati, Southern Illinois at Arkansas State and Indiana State at McNeese State.

Missouri Valley Divisions II-III Preview

By JOHN SONDEREGGER
Sports Writer, St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Every year folks in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association gather in the late summer to proclaim the virtues of their opponents. "We're gonna be good, but they're gonna be better," is a typical comment from an MIAA football coach.

As the football season approaches for Divisions II and III District 5 teams, it's kind of hard to separate fact from fiction, well-founded hopes from whimsical wishes.

But there are a few truths. For example, Southeast Missouri State University tied for the MIAA championship last year in what should have been a rebuilding year for the Indians. North Dakota State appeared to be a year away in the North Central Conference, but the young Bison roared to an undefeated season in the league.

It would be hard to pick any team other than Southeast Missouri to win in the MIAA. The Indians of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, return 32 lettermen, including quarterback Don Backfish and favorite receiver David Gross.

Northeast Missouri State was the team picked to win a year ago, but the Bulldogs had to settle for a title tie with SEMO. Northeast has back 23 lettermen.

Running back Steve Powell, split end Lloyd Henry and quarterback Steve Rampy return to anchor the most explosive offense in the MIAA.

Northwest Missouri, best in the league overall (8-2), has back eight starters on offense, including quarterback Kirk Mathews and running back Dan Montgomery.

Southwest Missouri closed with a rush in '76 and expects the return of quarterback Mitch Ware, fullback John Gianini and offensive end Tom Hamilton to bring success.

In the NCC North Dakota State went 6-0 in the conference and 9-3 overall and advanced to the NCAA Division II semifinals before losing to eventual champ Montana State.

The Bison return virtually everyone from that team. The expected stars for this season are Lew Curry, a 6-2, 263-pound center, and linebacker Jerry Rosburg.

League newcomer Nebraska-Omaha's Danny Fulton, known as the Steam Machine, led Division II in receiving last year and set two NCAA records.

South Dakota State, which finished second to the Bison, returns standout split end Monte Mosiman. Running back Mike Maguire and quarterback Scott Pollock are back for the Coyotes of the University of South Dakota.

Augustana (S.D.) returns quarterback Dee Jay Donlin, who has led the NCC in total offense the last two seasons.

The Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic Conference appears up for grabs as William Penn College, which has won the title for two consecutive seasons, lost almost all of its starters, including all-America slot back Jim Dulin and fullback Tim Mattern.

Dubuque's Spartans return 32 lettermen, including split end Rod Kiobassa.

AN UPLIFTING EXPERIENCE—Baylor all-America defensive back Gary Green received a lift from Texas' Morgan Copeland in this Southwest Conference contest. Copeland put a halt to Green's attempt to return a punt here, but the Longhorns could not put the skids to Baylor's 20-10 victory.

The Southwest (NCAA District 6)

SWC Left As 'Topsy-Turvy' After Royal And Broyles Era As Before

By ORVILLE HENRY

Sports Editor, Arkansas Gazette
Director, Football Writers Association of America

Harold V. Ratliff lived long enough to see it, the return of one of his favorite catch phrases, "topsy-turvy," to the lexicon of writers covering Southwest Conference football. As sports editor for The Associated Press in Dallas from the 1920s on, Ratliff's byline conveyed to the nation the last word on the subject.

All those years Ratliff could assure you that no champion ever repeated, or hardly ever; that most of the league's teams (then seven) would go to the Cotton Bowl in any given decade; that his storied league could outdo them all throwing the pighide around.

AS HAROLD'S TENURE WOUND DOWN, Darrell Royal and Frank Broyles ended all that. In the 1960s, which ended with a national championship game involving their two unbeaten teams, only Alabama had a better won-lost record than Texas and Arkansas.

From the seasons of 1959 through 1975, only three Southwest teams other than Royal's Texas or Broyles' Arkansas appeared as host team in the Cotton Bowl.

No other schools or coaches ever dominated the Southwest in such a manner: Royal accounted for 109 conference victories in 20 years; Broyles had 91 in 19.

Ratliff passed away early this year, but he lived to see all this:

On the night of December 4, 1976, Texas and Arkansas met at Austin in one of those matches rearranged by ABC-TV. This wasn't to be one of those big shootouts.

Texas had to win to keep Royal from experiencing his first losing season at UT. Even the eventual 29-12 victory left Darrell with his worst one, a 5-5-1 record.

It was Arkansas' poorest finish under Broyles in the truest sense.

A team that entered the last month with a 5-1 record didn't win in November and also finished 5-5-1.

THE SHOCKER WAS that both Broyles and Royal let it be known that night that they were retiring as coaches.

They hadn't planned to go out together, these closest of friends and fiercest of competitors, but it worked out that way, appropriately enough.

"That night," commissioner Cliff Speegle was to remark later, "our conference lost 39

Orville Henry became sports editor of the Arkansas Gazette at the age of 18 in 1943 and hasn't had a promotion since.

Fortunately, he worked as a copy boy for the Gazette while still in high school, so he gained a feeling of "moving up the ladder."

He studied at Little Rock University during his early years at the newspaper and has gained a great attachment for college football since.

His primary exposure is to the Southwest Conference brand of play, and he's covered the Arkansas Razorbacks since 1945. Henry also has branched into television and radio media areas.

years of national prestige."

Out with the old, on with the new.

Just as fittingly, the two teams that tied for the title with 7-1 league marks were the two newest members, Houston, competing for the title for the first time, and Texas Tech, succeeding for the first time since it began to contend in 1960.

Over the past two years, then, five of the league's nine teams have shared in the championship. (Arkansas, Texas and Texas A&M had tied in 1975.) More teams have enjoyed titles in that span than have not. A sixth, Baylor, prevailed in 1974.

Meantime, Rice's Tommy Kramer shattered most of the league's passing records and earned consensus all-America honors.

There is reason to believe that the brand of football in the Southwest in 1976 was the best ever and that it may have been the strongest conference in the land.

Texas Tech beat Colorado; Arkansas defeated Oklahoma State, and Texas tied Oklahoma. And those Big Eight teams were that league's tri-champions.

The Southwest placed four teams in the Top 20 of the polls and without using its standbys, Texas or Arkansas. Texas A&M (which may have been the highballing-est team in the land at the end), Houston, Texas Tech and Baylor were so honored.

The good news for the men who have assumed the chairs formerly held by Royal and Broyles is that they aren't on the spot. At least not right off. Texas and Arkansas lacked only quarterbacks last year but need more now and are cast as spoilers.

Fred Akers, who rebuilt Wyoming into a Western Athletic Conference champion after leaving Royal's staff, isn't Darrell, but he is extremely competent and well-grounded in the league. Arkansas' Lou Holtz is new to it.

Holtz's collegiate background, until one ill-fated season as boss of the New York Jets, OBSTRUCTING HIS VIEW—As if the double-teaming wasn't enough, Texas Christian quarterback Jimmy Dan Elzner (11) found himself playing in the dark after Texas A&M linebacker Robert Jackson knocked his helmet askew. The Horned Frogs suffered a power shortage against the Aggies, 59-10.

POINTING THE WAY—Tim Keane, defensive secondary coach at Arkansas State University, points out strategy to a couple of students of the game, Roy Painter (33) and Rodney Jones (65). Chances are the Indians were looking to make adjustments during one of their half dozen losses in a 5-6 season.*

was at North Carolina State, where he became a four-year miracle man. Actually, Holtz coaches like Woody Hayes, under whom he served at Ohio State in 1968, except that Lou likes to throw the ball and talks like Woody Allen.

The league has one other new coach. Texas Christian's Jim Shofner terminated his post at his alma mater one year early, returning to the pros after failing to revive the Frogs. TCU called up Tulsa's F. A. Dry and perhaps for one obscure but important reason. TCU has not won its traditional league opener from Arkansas since 1958. Last year Dry's Tulsa team upset Arkansas, 9-3. That was credential enough for the Purple People.

Six teams fielded strong defenses last year and qualified as contenders.

Three teams loom as stickouts this time. For starters, Texas A&M (David Walker), Houston (Danny Davis) and Tech (Rodney Allison) return the ultimate in college quarterbacks—the cool, quick scramblers who also throw that touchdown pass.

They are, however, irreplaceable. Injuries could throw the race wide open.

Emory Bellard, whose program has gotten stronger every year since he started at A&M with the freshman-eligible rule in 1972, hopes to get the Aggies off 10-2, their mark each of the last two seasons.

If he needed anything, it might have been a little schedule help. ABC might have provided that with a switch of the possibly telltale Houston game to December 3, giving each team an early season open date where it could be most useful.

The Aggies were 0-2 in the league race last October when Bellard reached for Walker at quarterback. After that, only runaways. With the lefthanded passer from Sulphur, La., A&M added the pro passing attack to its wishbone, something no one else had done.

For the first time A&M starts not only with its usual awesome defense but also with a sure-fire attack. Senior Walker, error-free and artful running and throwing, is backed by George Woodard, the 260-pound fullback with a sprinter's charge and a soaring goal-line leap. Walker is flanked by Curtis Dickey, a 195-pound soph with 9.3 speed plus throwing and catching ability, and David Brothers. Both started as freshmen last year and even excelled blocking for each other.

A&M has an early date at Michigan, the makings of a resounding match.

HOUSTON'S INVENTIVE BILL YEOMAN (whose recruiting haul matched A&M's typical prize group last winter) admittedly misses Wilson Whitley and Val Belcher, last year's key linemen. Whitley swept defensive linemen awards, including the Lombardi Trophy, and Belcher was the mighty man at offensive tackle.

"We have the bodies but not all that those two meant to us," says Yeoman, whose Cougars turned back undefeated Maryland in the Cotton Bowl.

The Cougars again are oh-so-quick, oh-so-fast. It all starts with Davis, who should be less unpredictable and even more effective this year.

Alois Blackwell emerged as the fastest and best of six running backs last year. But Houston's strength may be in the number of its fine defensive backs and receivers.

Allison galvanized Tech last year, coming off the bench to throw three touchdown passes in an early upset of A&M. Tech remained undefeated until the Cougars intercepted in the end zone on the last play, cinching their Cotton Bowl berth.

It was a remarkable coaching job by young Steve Sloan, whose Red Raiders added defensive tenacity to their customary offensive displays.

AKERS IS RETOOLING AT TEXAS. He's discarding the wishbone in favor of the veer-T. And he is stressing a more forcing type of defense. The chief question mark is at quarterback. If Earl Campbell, the league's No. 1 player when well, shakes off last year's injuries, quarterbacking won't be that much of a problem.

It is intriguing that, in the veer, Akers has the proven Alfred Jackson at one wide-out, Johnny (Gold Medal) Jones at the other.

Holtz is grooming Ron Calcagni to be the run-pass operator he couldn't be because of injuries as a soph last year.

Arkansas also returns Ben Cowins, the league's top ground gainer, and Jerry Eckwood, the early sensation of 1975 before a knee injury. But the offensive line must be rebuilt and stars replaced at defensive end and linebacker.

Grant Teaff graduated his best group of Baylor seniors in six years and must find a quarterback. Sammy Bickham, his best bet, spent the spring on the baseball team. Baylor again has the makings of a great defensive secondary but is short of linebackers.

SMU's Ron Myer had a gee-whiz quarterback last year when Ricky Wesson was well. Wesson is gone and the burden now is on multi-talented Art Whittington at tailback. Myer says 16 freshmen could start this fall. That is not a contender's statement.

HOMER RICE'S OFFENSE AT RICE brought oohs and aahs last year, but the Owls had no speed or quickness to speak of on defense and this continues a problem. The Owls also must switch to youth at quarterback.

Dry has a mountainous task at TCU. He starts by replacing Shofner's pro systems with college schemes. QB Steve Bayuk is active, and Mike Renfro is a super receiver.

Great kickers abound everywhere. The Southwest is thrice blessed.

A&M's shoeless Tony Franklin kicked back-to-back 64- and 65-yarders against Baylor (NCAA records) and 17 field goals for the season. He has two more years.

So has Russell Erxleben of Texas, the nation's leading punter as a soph who also kicks placements and kickoffs conventionally.

The dean is Arkansas' Steve Little, a conventional punter of note and a sidewinder on kickoffs and placements who has the league career record of 34 field goals.

THE SOUTHWEST

Elsewhere, the balance of power shifted dramatically in the Southland Conference. Arkansas State, after an 11-0 season for openers as a Division I team, fell off its perch; and Louisiana Tech, also traditionally potent, slipped back into the pack.

Coach Jack Doland's McNeese State Cowboys surprised almost everyone with its 200-pound scrappers who went 9-2 and shocked Tulsa in the postseason Independence Bowl at Shreveport. Doland returns most of that crew, including both quarterbacks and running back Mike (Super Mac) McArthur.

Runner-up Southwest Louisiana rebuilds around quarterback Roy Henry.

Texas-Arlington fullback Derrick Jensen can break school and SLC rushing marks.

Bill Davidson has his youngest team yet at Arkansas State, if you count a flock of midterm JC transfers as part of the inexperience. The Redskins need a quarterback.

Lamar also has gone heavily along the JC route in an effort to turn around 2-9.

Maxie Lambright lost his QBs at Louisiana Tech but retains a strong defensive unit.

Independently speaking Northeast Louisiana is blessed with one of the nation's top aerial batteries, quarterback Mike Howell and wide receiver John Floyd, for second-year coach John David Crow. The Indians need running backs and better defense.

North Texas State has a bonus in the return of nose guard Walter Chapman as it looks for a third straight winning campaign. Another standout is free safety J.T. Smith.

Tarleton State joins Trinity and Austin as part of the newly-organized Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association. Linebacker Tally Neal and defensive back Dan Smalley are big guns for Tarleton.

HIGH-LEVEL PLAY—Brigham Young split end Jay Miller and Utah State's Ron McCloud carried the game to new levels as they contested this pass intended for Miller. While the pass fell incomplete, these two returned to earth with all parts intact during a 45-14 victory for the BYU Cougars.

Neilsen At Controls As Cougars Bid For Exclusive Title Rights

By JOE GILMARTIN
Sports Editor, Phoenix Gazette

The top fell out of the Western Athletic Conference in 1976. Or, to put it another way, Arizona State bottomed out. Since becoming eligible for the championship in 1965, the Sun Devils had compiled a gaudy 51-8 WAC record and claimed six championships in the last seven seasons. In 1976 they were considered strong contenders for the national championship and shoo-ins for a seventh WAC title in eight years.

But instead, they got off to the proverbial flying standstill with a loss to UCLA on national television, were hit hard by injuries and wound up at 4-7 overall—the first losing season for Frank Kush in 19 years as Arizona State University coach.

IN THE CONFERENCE THE DEVILS HAD TO UPSET arch rival Arizona in the final game for a 4-3 mark and a piece of third place.

Meanwhile, Brigham Young and Wyoming tied for the championship at 6-1, with the Cowpokes getting a Fiesta Bowl bid by virtue of having beaten the Cougars.

Five of Wyoming's six league victories came by a combined total of 15 points.

The 1977 season shapes up as "The Year of the Cougar" in the WAC. Brigham Young University, with Heisman Trophy candidate Gifford Neilsen at the controls, is definitely the team to beat. Neilsen, a 6-5, 205-pound quarterback, led the nation in touchdown passes with 29 and yardage with 3,192. He was also WAC player of the year, and only three other players in college football history ever threw more touchdown passes in one season.

Neilsen's favorite targets include 5-10, 170-pound wide receiver John Van Der Wouden, who caught eight touchdown passes last year, and Mike Chronister, the "home run" man who averaged nearly 23 yards a catch.

Running back Todd Christensen, who caught 51 safety valve pitches last year, returns for his final season.

THE MOST NOTABLE loss was two-time all-WAC running back Jeff Blanc, but Bill Ring, a 5-10, 190-pound transfer from San Mateo JC, is expected to take up some of the slack.

Coach LaVell Edwards' defensive line is anchored by a pair of mammoth tackles, 6-2, 240-pound Samoan Mekeli Jeremia, and 6-4, 270-pound Gary Peterson, former WAC heavyweight wrestling champion.

The life and times of Joe Gilmartin began in the East, New Hampshire to be precise, and shifted to the Midwest for journalism studies at the University of Missouri.

His first newspaper assignment took him to Iola, Kansas; then he moved on to Texas.

Gilmartin was sports editor of two different papers in Wichita in the late '50s before joining the Gazette in 1961.

The Phoenix columnist has been sports editor four years.

Vice-president of the national organization for sports writers and sports casters, his history of the Phoenix Suns of the NBA, The Little Team That Could And Darn Near Did, was published last year.

Wyoming returns 38 letterman, including both quarterbacks, from the team that startled the WAC a year ago. Bill Lewis, an Arkansas assistant, succeeded Fred Akers as Wyoming's 22nd head coach. Lewis plans to abandon the Akers wishbone in favor of the veer, and there are indications Wyoming may pass a bit more.

Marc Cousins, last year's total offense leader, and Don Clayton are likely to share quarterback duties again. Both are considered better runners than throwers.

The best passer on the campus well may be Hugh Albora, who was redshirted last year. The Nos. 3 and 4 rushers from '76, Latrail Jones and Bob Davis, are back.

ONE SPOT THAT WAS HIT HARD BY GRADUATION was center, with starter Ray Davies and backup Mike Cousins both gone. The offensive tackles are two-time all-WAC Dennis Baker and two-year starter Johnny Miller.

New Mexico, with quarterback Noel Mazzone returning to direct an offense that ranked 11th nationally a year ago, and Arizona State, which is expected to bounce back, actually may pose more serious threats to BYU's title aspirations.

The Cougars, incidentally, already have removed themselves from Fiesta Bowl consideration because the game is to be played on Sunday, December 25. So if BYU is the WAC champion, the runner-up will be the host team in the Fiesta classic.

Mazzone amassed more than 2,000 yards in total offense last year, which ranked him third in the WAC and ninth in the nation. And junior fullback Mike Williams, who led the WAC in rushing with 1,240 yards last year, is back.

So is wide receiver Preston Dennard, who holds all Lobo pass reception marks.

COACH BILL MONDT'S problem is his defensive line, virtually wiped out by graduation. Defensive end Robin Cole, a second-team all-America, is back, but otherwise it is mostly new faces. Bright spots defensively include cornerback Max Hudspeth (son of Detroit Lion coach Tommy Hudspeth), and Marion Chapman, the No. 2 tackler last year.

In Tempe, Kush returns all the starters from last year's offensive line, plus both quarterbacks, plus wide receiver John Jefferson—who Kush rates the "best I've ever coached." But for the first time in the memory of the oldest Sun Devil watchers, ASU goes to the post without a proven running threat.

FAST FREDDIE WILLIAMS is gone. The most likely prospects are sophomore scooter Arthur "Turtle" Lane, Mike Harris and George Perry, who all were out most of last year.

Dennis Sproul and Fred Mortensen are coming off disappointing years and may face stiff challenges from sophomores

BIONIC CHEERLEADER—With apparent superhuman powers, this petite cheerleader from Colorado State seems to be balancing her male counterpart in the air while the two tried to inject the Rams' fans with enthusiasm. Crowd-pleasing plays were at a premium in a 6-5-0 campaign.

GOLIATH—Wyoming defensive tackle Cliff Winfield (76) appears giant-sized, hovering over teammate Francis Chesley, and his presence had to be a little intimidating even as Chesley stopped an Air Force runner. Winfield was not intimidating enough, however, as the Falcons emerged, 41-21.*

Mark Malone and John Fouch.

At Arizona, which also was hit hard by injuries last year, Tony Mason from Cincinnati replaces Jim Young, who went to Purdue, as head coach.

The Wildcats were hit by so many injuries a year ago that anybody who started at least twice is considered a "returning starter." Arizona's top player only weighs 154 pounds—Lee Pistor has kicked 35 career field goals, including a 54-yarder.

MARC LUNS福德, WHO WAS HURT EARLY LAST YEAR, and Jim Krohn, who came on strong as a freshman late in 1976, battle for the quarterback job.

A long shot is Colorado State, where Sark Arslanian returns most of the key people from the 6-5 team that handed Wyoming its only conference loss a year ago.

The only missing offensive starter is wide receiver Mike Bachman; and senior Harry Washington, one of the WAC's top punt returners, should step into that spot. Running backs Ron Harris and Mark Davis, who ground out more than 1,500 yards between them last year, are back, as is senior quarterback Dan Graham. The latter faces a stiff challenge, however, from sophomore Mike Carara and JC transfer Gary Crowton.

Utah has changed coaches again, with Wayne Howard replacing Tom Lovat.

THE UTES PLAN TO OPERATE OUT OF THE I AND PRO SET and probably stay on the ground more often than in recent years, although Pat Degnan, who was seventh nationally in passing two years ago, is back for a final fling. Degnan lost out to injuries and Dan Hageman a year ago; but Hageman is gone, and so are the injuries.

Utah also features fullback Mike Mosley and Steve Peake, who gained over 1,000 yards between them last year. Howard did harvest a fine freshman crop.

Bill Michael returns to Texas-El Paso to take over from coach Gil Bartosh, after the Miners suffered through a two-year 2-21 drought. Michael has been in private business the past three seasons, but prior to that he was an assistant at Oklahoma and also was on Bobby Dobbs' staff during the Miner glory years of a decade ago.

The Miners return 14 starters, seven on each unit, including two-time all-WAC fullback Robert Elliott, who gained more than 800 yards each of the last two seasons.

RIB WRECKER—Northern Arizona middle guard Neal Higginson jarred Boise State's Greg Stern just as he released a pass in this Big Sky Conference contest. The Lumberjacks played havoc with the Boise State plans from beginning of game til end, saddling the Broncos with a 42-7 thrashing.

Ben Martin starts his 20th year as head coach at the Air Force Academy with an air of cautious optimism. The Falcons started the 70's in the Sugar Bowl, but they've spent most of the decade in the soup. The optimism stems from a fast finish last year.

Martin has 16 returning starters, including a pair of youngsters who showed plenty of promise with the varsity as freshmen last year, QB Dave Ziebart and running back Dave Thomas. The top holdover, however, is senior wide receiver Paul Williams.

At Utah State, the other leading area independent, things may be better but not that much better than they were a year ago when the Aggies wobbled through a 3-8 season.

SECOND-YEAR COACH Bruce Snyder is counting heavily on juco transfers for a fast transfusion, although he does have a proven passer in quarterback Keith Myers.

The team's most capable performer, however, is senior linebacker Claude Nelson.

The big noise in the Big Sky Conference last year was made by Montana State, which fashioned a 12-1 record and beat Akron, 24-13, in the Pioneer Bowl for the NCAA Division II championship, and by Northern Arizona, which had an 8-3 record.

The Bobcats suffered a stiff jolt when all-Big Sky sophomore tailback Tom Kostirba, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards as a freshman, decided to take a fling at Canadian football; but otherwise things are solid for coach Sonny Holland.

Montana State was a grind-it-out team last year, leading Division II in rushing with nearly 290 yards per game. Fullback Delmar Jones spearheads the ground game.

QUARTERBACK PAUL DENNEHY, who rushed for 448 yards and 11 touchdowns, returns, as does 223-pound tight end Ron McCullough, who just might be the best blocker in Division II. The Bobcats were eighth nationally in defense against scoring and return Kodak all-America Les Leininger, a 220-pound defensive end. Also back is kicking specialist Jeff Muri, who does an unusual "double" as a 9.8 split receiver.

There were only eight seniors on the NAU team that posted its best ever Big Sky mark (4-2). Quarterback Herb Daniel, who passed for 1,384 yards and 12 TDs, is back, along with his top targets, wide receivers Tyrone Peterson and Chris Mangold.

All-conference fullback Carl Golden spearheads a solid ground game, and second-team all-America guard Larry Friedrichs leads the offensive line charge.

Coach Joe Salem welcomes back 10 of the 11 starters from the defensive unit that led the league in total defense and defense against the rush.

Up at Moscow, coach Ed Troxel didn't lose much in terms of quantity off last year's 7-4 University of Idaho team, returning 39 lettermen. But six of the departed were all-Big Sky performers. Still, with '76 starting quarterbacks Rocky Tuttle and Craig Juntunen on hand, plus top ground gainer Robert Brooks and starting wide receivers Kirk Allen and Mike Hagadone, the Vandals expect to be a factor in the race.

Boise State, coming off a 5-5-1 season, led the conference in total offense, featuring Fred Goode, who broke the school single season rushing record with 716 yards, and also caught 34 passes. Wide receiver Terry Hutt averaged 18 yards per catch.

Holdover quarterback Dee Pickett, coming off knee surgery, is pushed by sophomore redshirt Hoskin Hogan and sophomore Kevin McDonald. Seven defensive starters return, including 6-3, 235 Chris Malmgren, one of the area's better defensive tackles.

Gene Carlson's longest suit at Montana is an offensive line that averages out at 6-5, 255, and is led by offensive guard Terry Falcon. Flanking him are Ben Harbison and Murray Pierce. Carlson must replace little all-America Greg Anderson at defensive back and wide receiver Paul Cooley. One of the coach's assets is son Bruce, who kicked nine field goals, missed only one extra point and averaged 39.3 yards as a punter.

Weber State and Idaho State, not necessarily in that order, figure to bring up the rear in the Big Sky. Weber, coming off a 2-9 season, has new coach Pete Riehlman.

Riehlman is rebuilding from the ground up, although he does have Mike Korvas, who led the Big Sky in punting last year with a 43.3 average. Idaho State, 1-9 last year, has brought in Leo "Bud" Hake from Grays Harbor College to put things right. His top performer is 240-pound nose guard Ray Allred, the Tasmanian Devil.

Independent Colorado College has succeeded the past six years on the merits of a single wing offense, but its strength in '77 is the defense which returns intact. Terry Hoadley is the leader in that area.

The return of leading-receiver Rich Marquez to Northern Colorado is some consolation in light of the loss of eight defensive starters.

50-50 CHANCE—At this point both Ron Smith (19) of San Diego State and Fresno State's Bob Jones appear to have an equal chance at snaring this 39-yard pass intended for Smith. The Pacific Coast [NCAA District 8]

Outstanding Recruits May Signal End Of Trojan Hold On Pacific-8

By LOEL SCHRADER

Sports Columnist, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram

For more than a decade, one thing almost as certain as death and taxes has been University of Southern California supremacy in Pacific Coast football.

Eight Pacific-8 Conference championships in 11 years, five Rose Bowl victories and three national titles.

But the shape of the future may be different, despite USC's success under rookie coach John Robinson in 1976, when the Trojans won their last 10 season games, defeated Michigan in the Rose Bowl and finished No. 2 in national wire service rankings.

UNDER HUSTLING TERRY DONAHUE, UCLA SCoured the cities, towns and villages of the nation and signed 10 high school all-America recruits, an unexpected bonanza.

Washington, California and Stanford also had outstanding recruiting success, which should lead to better balance in 1977 and future campaigns.

San Jose State repeated as Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion in 1976 and coach Lynn Stiles' team is a strong favorite again in 1977. But the Spartans have scheduled three Pac-8 opponents—Washington, Cal and Stanford—and could expend much of their energy in those contests, leaving them vulnerable for league opponents.

There are three new coaches in the Pacific-8 Conference—Bill Walsh at Stanford, Rich Brooks at Oregon and Warren Powers at Washington State—but the league's love for a passing game shouldn't diminish in 1977.

Five of eight Pac-8 teams averaged more than 150 yards through the air in 1976, and some powerful throwers return for 1977, including Washington State's all-conference quarterback, Jack Thompson.

He completed .586 per cent of his 355 passes in 1976 for an average of 251 yards per game. Twenty of his completions went for touchdowns.

STANFORD RETURNS Guy Benjamin, who was second to Thompson in '76 with a .576 completion percentage, 220 yards per game and 12 touchdowns.

Other top passers back for the '77 campaign are Jack Henderson of Oregon, Warren Moon of Washington and Rob Hertel of USC. The latter was a reserve quarterback for the Trojans in 1976 but completed 30 of 46

Loel Schrader has been a newspaperman since 1941, with time out for service in the Navy and seven and a half years with the American Newspaper Guild.

He has an undergraduate degree in journalism and a graduate degree in industrial relations and will receive his juris doctorate from Western State University Law School in December of 1977.

Schrader has been on hand for 11 Rose Bowl assignments and has made eight trips to the NCAA basketball tourney.

A feature on football nicknames won him a National Newspaper Association Best Sports Story of the Year Award in 1966.

passing attempts, eight for touchdowns.

Three all-Americans, tailback Ricky Bell, strong tackle Marvin Powell and defensive tackle Gary Jeter, have departed USC, but no one should shed any tears for Robinson.

He has adequate replacements at each position.

For instance, 6-6, 270-pound sophomore offensive tackle Anthony Munoz is considered the best USC prospect at his position since Ron Yary won the Outland Trophy 10 years ago. "Munoz is a natural blocker," says Robinson. "He destroys people."

JETER'S PROBABLE REPLACEMENT is 6-5, 252-pound senior Vinnie Van Dyke, who sustained a serious industrial injury in the summer of 1975 and didn't begin to reach his potential until late in the '76 season.

Bell was rated in the same class as a long line of Trojan tailback greats—Jon Arnett, Clarence Davis, Anthony Davis and Heisman winners Mike Garrett and O.J. Simpson.

But he was injured much of the 1976 season; and his replacement, freshman Charles White, performed spectacularly, gaining 858 yards and scoring 10 touchdowns.

He capped his rookie season with 114 yards in 32 carries against Michigan in the Rose Bowl after Bell had sustained an injury early in the game.

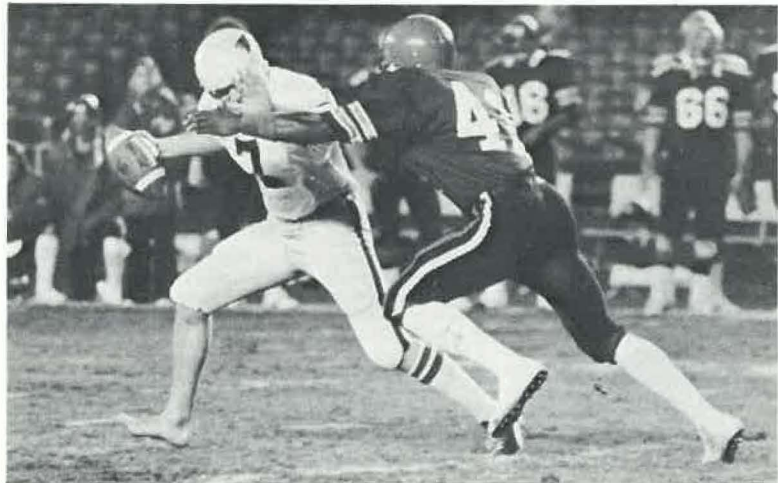

"It's hard to believe a freshman could be that good that fast," says Robinson. "He's one of the best breakaway threats I've ever seen."

White is strongly supported at tailback by redshirts Lynn Cain and Dwight Ford, both experienced but coming off injuries that kept them out of action in 1976.

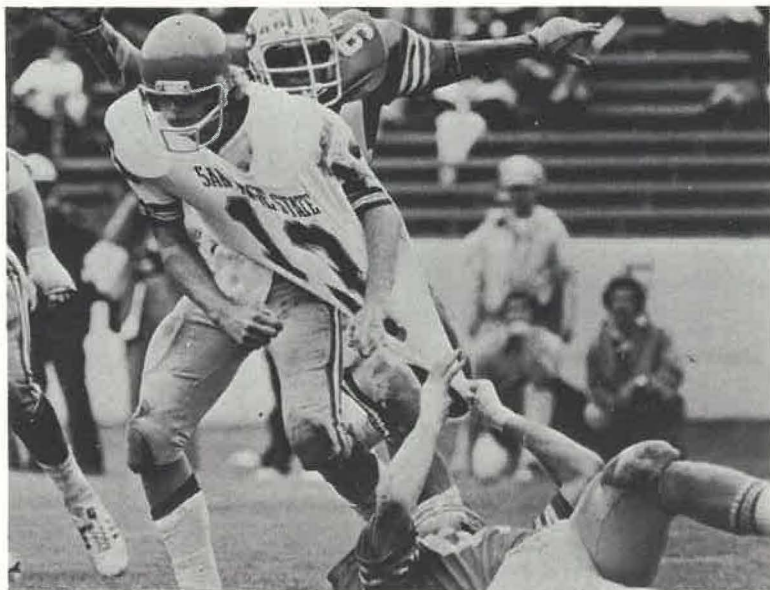

HERTEL IS A KEY TO THE TROJAN OFFENSE. He is entertaining thoughts of signing a professional baseball contract and his departure would be a severe blow to USC chances to repeat as conference champion.

If Hertel doesn't return, the quarterbacking could be handled by two inexperienced players, sophomore Paul McDonald and junior redshirt Walt Ransom.

Regardless of the name of the quarterback, his chief target is senior split end Randy

"WATCH MY TOES!"—It's no wonder Utah State kicker Tom Mayes (7) tried to protect his right foot while fleeing from San Diego State cornerback Ken Hinton after a blown placement. Had Mayes been able to convert a short field goal on this third-quarter play, it might have averted a 7-6 loss.

FULL STRETCH—California Golden Bear Phil Heck gives the stretch test to jersey #13 worn by San Jose State quarterback Steve DeBerg. DeBerg was one of the national passing leaders in 1976, but in this game he wasn't able to work any magic to avert a 43-16 celebration for the Bears.*

Simmrin, whose diving catches were a feature of the 1976 season.

All-America safety Dennis Thurman anchors a defense that may not be as strong as last season. But inside linebacker Clay Matthews, tackle Walt Underwood, cornerback Ricky Odom and outside linebacker Mario Celotto provide the experience around which Robinson can rebuild the defense of a contender.

"We have a chance to be very good again," says Robinson.

But he's also mindful of a difficult schedule. Non-conference opponents are Missouri, Alabama, Notre Dame and Texas Christian.

For the second year in a row, UCLA gets tested early. The Bruins open at the Astrodome against Southwest Conference champion Houston.

Last year an opening victory over Western Athletic Conference defending titlist Arizona State propelled Donahue and the Bruins to a surprising 9-1-1 regular season.

"We have to completely rebuild our offense," notes Donahue, who lost 10 starters from a 35-points-per-game team. "We also will try to improve our passing attack."

UCLA was last in the league in passing (85 yards per game) from its veer attack in 1976, and quarterback Jeff Dankworth has graduated.

It's probably a three-way fight at quarterback among holdovers Steve Bukich and Rick Bashore and a talented freshman, Craig Landis.

Two high school all-Americans, Fred Brockington of Detroit and Scott Tiesing of Portland, Oregon, may offer competition for returnee Severn Reece at flanker. Homer Butler and James Sarpy are back at split end.

GIVING THANKS ABOVE—As if to offer the football as a token of thanks, Southern California tailback Charles White holds it over his head while lying flat on his back in the end zone seconds after scoring USC's second touchdown on a seven-yard run en route to a 14-6 Rose Bowl win over Michigan.

If the Bruins can muster the blocking up front, they should have another strong running game, one that averaged more than 331 yards on the ground in '76.

One of the nation's most powerful runners, Theotis (Big Foot) Brown, is back after rushing for 1,092 yards last season.

James Owens, a world-class high hurdler, came on late in the season and had two 100-yard games at the other halfback.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA'S TOP PREP RUNNING BACK, Freeman McNeill, also figures in UCLA's running attack for the '77 campaign.

Defensively the Bruins should be solid. All-America linebacker Jerry Robinson and tackle Manu Tuiasosopo head a list of seven returning starters, and Donahue is counting on junior college transfers and such talented freshmen as Billy Don Jackson, Art Akers, Mike Mason, Brad Plemmons and LXARRY Lee to offer help.

The Bruins have a powerful kicking game with Frank Corral, who averaged 44.6 yards as a punter and established a school record with a 55-yard field goal last season.

Conference coaches rate the Bruins as UCS's top challenger for conference honors.

Probably most improved in the Pacific-8 is Washington, which is playing its third season under highly respected Don James.

THE HUSKIES ARE SOLID AT TAILBACK with Ron Rowland and Joe Steele. A junior college transfer last season, Rowland became the second player in Washington history to rush for 1,000 yards (1,002) in a single season.

Steele missed two games with injuries and saw only brief action in several others as a freshman but still compiled 421 yards and a team-leading 5.5 yards per carry.

Quarterback Warren Moon passed for 1,106 yards and six touchdowns.

"He will have his strongest supporting cast since coming to Washington," said James, "and we expect him to have a strong senior season."

James believes the Huskies' strengths are at tailback and in the offensive and defensive lines. "We have seven returning starters on defense and had only one senior starting in our offensive line at the end of 1976."

He went on to stress, "We'll be much improved. We have some holes to fill, but I believe we're a team that's going to be reckoned with."

The Huskies also might receive help from their incoming freshmen, especially highly recruited tackle Curt Marsh.

Stanford has 27 returning lettermen and 12 starters for new coach Walsh, former offensive coordinator for the San Diego Chargers of the National Football League.

The Cardinals won't be bashful about passing.

"We expect our passing to be very strong in the hands of Benjamin," said Walsh. "He should be headed for a great senior year."

Walsh also likes his receivers—James Lofton, Bill Kellar, Vince Mulroy and a number of good tight ends and several promising freshmen.

"Our receivers should be among the best in the nation," he predicted.

He rates junior middle linebacker Gordy Ceresino "among the best players in the country" and describes cornerback Larry Reynolds as "a superb natural athlete, a tremendously intelligent player and a real leader on the field."

As for weaknesses, said Walsh, "We're not as experienced or as deep at certain positions as we would like. We'll be rebuilding with a crop of talented, but young, players."

California's Mike White is the dean of conference coaches in his sixth year.

He has 33 returning lettermen but only 10 starters, five on offense and five on defense, returning from a team that was 5-6 overall and 3-4 in the league last season.

Yet White describes the Bears as "a veteran team."

"We may not be the big offensive unit as in past years, but unlike those teams, we will not have to depend upon the big guns—Steve Bartkowski, Bill Muncie, Joe Roth, Wesley Walker," proposed the head Bear.

"This team will be stronger and deeper. The defense will be the best I've ever had at Cal, and it will make us a much stronger team."

"We must solidify the offensive line and linebackers."

The Golden Bears have been blessed with solid quarterbacking in recent years, and that tradition could continue in 1976.

Battling for the No. 1 position are holdover Eric Anderson and JC transfer Charles "WHAT'D YOU SAY?" queries Washington State split end Mike Levenseller, glancing over his right shoulder at an unseen source of the question. It seems teammate Ron Bull (88) and Minnesota's Steve Stewart are interested in the exchange, too, moving within earshot during the Gophers' 28-14 victory.

Young. But an all-America prep, Rich Campbell, could figure in the quarterback fight before the season has ended.

Among the top players are tight end George Freitas, running back Paul Jones, defensive back Ralph DeLoach, cornerback Ken McAllister and defensive end Burl Toler.

Cal also returns placekicker Jimmy Breech, fourth leading kickscorer in the nation last season with 72 points. He converted 16 of 24 field goal attempts in 1976.

WASHINGTON STATE HAD A 3-8 RECORD last season (2-5 in the Pac-8), but the Cougars were an exciting team to watch.

Jack Thompson began the season as a third stringer but wound up the campaign by breaking Jim Plunkett's league records for most pass completions (208) and pass yards (2,762) and tying Plunkett's mark for most touchdowns (20) in a single season.

Thompson threw for more than 300 yards in four games.

The league's top receiver, Mike Levenseller, returns to try to surpass his 1976 marks of 67 receptions, 1,124 yards and 10 touchdowns.

But new coach Warren Powers realizes he has to beef up the Cougars' running game, which yielded only 67.6 yards per game last season.

"We are faced with getting the right players in the right positions, determining how flexible we will be," said the Cougar coach, who came to Pullman from Nebraska.

OREGON STATE WON ONLY TWO OF 12 GAMES in 1976, but the Beavers have 49 lettermen returning, including 15 starters.

"One of our strengths is experience at a lot of positions," says coach Craig Fertig, who spent 10 seasons as an assistant to John McKay at Southern Cal before taking over at Oregon State last season.

"Because of injuries, a lot of fellows had an opportunity to play in 1976."

Sophomore Scott Richardson is the quarterback favorite after performing well in key situations last season.

Fertig is especially impressed with center Jim Walker, who he describes as "one of the toughest players I've ever been around."

Other leading Beavers are split end Dwayne Hill, tailback James Field, cornerback Kerry

HEADING INTO DANGER—Idaho State defensive end Kim Kildew (43) dives into the play with total abandon, while teammate Bill Taylor looks on with a measure of disbelief. Portland punter Mike Atwood appears as content to drop kick Kildew's head as the ball in a 26-14 victory for his side.

SPOILS OF WAR—Portland State linebackers Rick Cartasegna (50) and Tony Mims (51) haggle over the jersey of Chico State quarterback Dan Ross even before the Vikings had made the kill. But the potent Vikings had no trouble with the Wildcats, polishing them off in the season opener, 50-3.

Justin, middle linebacker Kent Peyton and defensive tackle Greg Marshall.

"Off the recruiting season UCLA had, the Bruins have to be the prime contender for the title," predicted Fertig.

Oregon held to tradition in 1976, remaining strong defensively, but on the other side of the coin, the Ducks sputtered offensively.

"Our primary concern is to establish a potent running game," said new coach Rich Brooks. "The lack of a ground game was the team's most glaring weakness last season. This forced the Ducks to pass out of necessity, instead of when they wanted to."

Brooks, who came to Oregon from UCLA, has a splendid passer in Jack Henderson, seventh in the nation in '76 after completing an average of 14.3 per game.

OTHER HIGHLY RATED OREGON PLAYERS among the 34 returning lettermen are wide receiver Tom Cafferty, cornerback Reggie Grant, center-offensive tackle Fred Quilan, defensive tackle Rob Plath and placekicker-punter Roy Geiger.

San Jose State lost all-America tackle Wilson Faumina and the school's all-time leading rusher, Rick Kane, but coach Lynn Stiles' stable is not bereft of talent.

Among his returnees are tight end Vic Rakhshani, who caught 24 passes for 307 yards last season and was chosen by Football News for its freshman all-America team; outside linebacker Rayford Roberson, an all-conference performer with impressive statistics, and cornerback Gerald Small, all-Pacific Coast and all-PCAA.

"THE POTENTIAL IS THERE for an excellent year," noted Stiles, "but because we have so many new people, I consider it a rebuilding season."

Long Beach State also rebuilds under new coach Dave Currey, who moved from Stanford. The 49ers have 25 returning lettermen but only six starters.

Probably the key to the season is how well JC quarterback transfer Jim Freitas performs. He completed 59 per cent of his passes for 1,700 yards at Grossmont.

Currey is committed to a passing game. "It's a great equalizer," he says.

Fullerton State goes into the 1977 season "cautiously optimistic" after compiling an unglittering 3-7-1 record in 1976.

Thirty-three lettermen return and coach Jim Colletto recruited 25 junior college and high school athletes for the Titans.

Heading the list are all-PCAA performers Floyd Lavennder, Leonard King, Bruce Abraham, Lance Fralick and Juan Carillo.

Colletto signed four players for quarterback, a key position in his veer offense.

Fresno State appears on the way back under coach Jim Sweeney, who moved from Washington State last season. Sweeney installed the veer, and late in the season Fresno State was a difficult opponent.

University of Pacific has brought in a talented crop of junior college transfers to fill holes created by graduation.

San Diego State went 10-1 last season. It will have one more run as an independent before joining the Western Athletic Conference in 1978. Over the past 16 years, the Aztecs have established a winning tradition. Their record for that period is 139-26-5.

Coach Claude Gilbert has 11 returning starters, plus 10 top reserves, 10 redshirts and a superb crew of junior college and freshman recruits.

Tailback David (Deacon) Turner is a contender for regional and national honors.

Hawaii, the other independent in the West, is planning to switch to a veer offense and figures to improve in 1977.

Pacific Coast Divisions II-III Preview

By BOB DUNNING

Sports Editor, The Davis (Cal.) Enterprise

Although strength can be found in the conferences from the likes of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, University of California-Davis and Redlands, the majority of headlines in West Coast Divisions II-III football should be plucked off by independent powers.

Heading the list is perennial playoff contender Nevada-Las Vegas.

The Rebels, however, receive a strong challenge from upstate neighbor Nevada-Reno, where second-year coach Chris Ault has built a football power overnight.

The Pack went 8-3 a year ago, rolling up 470 yards and 37 points a game behind quarterback Jeff Tisdell, who led the nation with 26 touchdown passes.

Tisdell returns, as does top pass catcher Jeff Wright, fullback Wayne Ferguson and mammoth linemen Roberto and Carl Selden.

While Puget Sound and Santa Clara consistently rank high among West Coast independents, the thunder out of the Northwest this fall belongs to Portland State, which has gone 8-3 the last two years under Darrel "Mouse" Davis.

Several years ago the Portland program was about to go under, before Mouse infused a creative offense to form a high-scoring team that brought the crowds back.

The Vikings led the world in total offense last year with 5,473 yards and led Division II teams in passing in both 1975 and 1976.

Although rifle-armed June Jones is gone, junior Mike Atwood has the Mouse squeaking with joy, along with five of last year's top six receivers and Csonka-like fullback Jeff Salta, who had 23 touchdowns.

The three-team California Collegiate Athletic Association figures to be just that—a three-horse race between Joe Harper's powerful SLO Mustangs, Cal Poly Pomona and Northridge State.

WHILE SLO WAS ROLLING to its customarily brilliant 7-1-1 record in 1976, new coach Jack Elway was an instant hit at Northridge with an 8-3 mark.

Elway's popularity is put to the test with the loss of 25 seniors, including nine of 11 defensive starters. Wide receiver Alvin Hooks, who led Northridge with five TD catches last year, returns on offense along with linemen John Cote and John Russi.

The name of the game in the Far Western Conference is "catch the Aggies" of California-Davis, where Jim Sochor has turned in six straight titles.

Although QB Jim Speck is gone, Sochor does have an adequate replacement in junior Mike Moroski and a talented group of running backs led by sophomore Lee Rosen.

HUMBOLDT STATE LED the FWC's also-rans the last two years and should challenge the Aggies again, along with San Francisco State and Chico State.

Frank Serrao has made Redlands a power, rivaling Sochor's feats to the north with four straight Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles.

Redlands was 10-2 last year and returns offensive stalwarts Brian DeRoo and David D'Arcangelo along with 6-4, 250-pound offensive tackle Randy Van Horn.

Serrao's crew should be challenged strongly by Occidental, Whittier and LaVerne, with Pomona-Pitzer and Claremont-Mudd rebuilding from second-division '76 finishes.

While Southern Oregon hopes for a strong year in the small but talented Evergreen Conference, the remaining West Coast honors belong to independents Los Angeles State, University of San Diego, St. Mary's, Cal Tech and Cal Lutheran.

Of those, Cal Lutheran is by far the best (109-32 in 15 years of play). Coach Bob Shoup is expected to turn out another winner despite the return of only nine starters. Tackle Dave Stanley anchors the defense and fullback Al Staic also returns.

THE CLASSICS REVISITED

Pitt Panthers Leave Few Dissenters In The Wake Of Sweet Sugar Triumph

By GUS SCHRADER

Sports Editor, Cedar Rapids Gazette

Immediate Past President Football Writers Association of America

Not many college football fans outside of Pittsburgh, Pa., felt much like claiming, "We're No. 1," after the 11 major bowl games were completed last January 2.

Winning the near-unanimous votes of Associated Press, United Press International and the Football Writers Association of America proved just another "Pitt" stop on the road to a fantastic season for coach Johnny Majors and his unbeaten, untied Panthers.

Pitt buried Georgia, 27-3, in the Sugar Bowl and received 59 of 62 votes cast by AP's coast-to-coast panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

UPI's board of coaches picked the Panthers, 39-3.

The three holdouts in each case cast their ballots for Southern California, which spilled Michigan, 14-6, in the Rose Bowl. Those six people were trying to forget that the Trojans had dropped a 46-25 opener to Missouri nearly four months previously.

NEWSMEN COVERING THE GRANDDADDY OF ALL BOWLS at Pasadena, California, tried to drum up some pregame interest by prodding the Michigan and USC coaches into saying the winner of their game should be No. 1.

USC's John Robinson and Michigan's Bo Schembechler didn't convince many observers. Bo knew nobody would forget Michigan's previous letdown, a 16-14 slip to Purdue.

Nobody else drummed up much enthusiasm in the "We're No. 1" race. Oh, Maryland carried one of the other two perfect season records (Rutgers finished 11-0) into its Cotton Bowl date with Houston but had to endure many taunts about the texture of its schedule.

The Terrapins proved they were tough, though they lost, 30-21, to twice-beaten Houston.

Ohio State fans recovered some of their pride when coach Woody Hayes' legions humbled Coloardo, 27-10, in the Orange Bowl. That matched the co-champions of the Big Ten and Big Eight, even though many fans forgot that the Buckeyes finished that high after dropping the annual "one-game season" to Michigan, 22-0—and on Woody's own rug at that.

Ohio State's final record showed the Bucks had overwhelmed nine foes, underwhelmed two (Michigan and Missouri) and whelmed one (UCLA, 10-10).

IF ANYBODY had a right to point his index finger to the sky and proclaim himself No. 1, it was Tony Franklin of Texas A&M. At least Tony proved himself king of bowl placekickers.

H.H. "Gus" Schrader is a six-time recipient of honors as the Iowa sports writer of the year.

His extended newspaper career encompasses stints with the Iowa City Press-Citizen, the Daily Iowan and the Des Moines Register, which preceded his ongoing affiliation with the Cedar Rapids Gazette.

The Gazette has been his "home" for the last 30 years. And the World War II navy veteran has been sports editor of the publication for the last 25.

The author of "Red Peppers," Schrader is a 1946 graduate of the University of Iowa and past president of the Football Writers Association of America.

REELING IT IN—Brigham Young's Todd Christensen had surprisingly little contention for this pass during the Tangerine Bowl Classic, but Oklahoma State didn't allow the Cougars much of this kind of success. The Big Eight entry tamed the Western Athletic Conference team, 49-21.

The 5-10, 170-pound sophomore kicks field goals barefoot.

He made three out of four as the Aggies beat Florida, 34-14, in the 42nd annual Sun Bowl, and one was for 62 yards, the longest ever kicked in a bowl game.

Nebraska beat Texas Tech, 27-24, in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl. That is a field goal's difference, but the Cornhuskers were almost out of sight—even to the most rabid Big Red fan—by a 24-14 count when Vince Ferragamo led them to two second-half touchdowns.

In other games, Kentucky (8-4) slammed North Carolina (9-3) in the Peach Bowl, 21-0; Notre Dame (9-3) clipped Penn State (7-5) in the Gator, 20-9; Alabama (9-3) continued its new-found bowl-winning habit by surprising UCLA (9-2-1) in the Liberty, 36-6; and Oklahoma State (9-3) and Oklahoma (9-2-1) gave the Big Eight a clean sweep over the Western Athletic Conference by defeating Brigham Young (9-3) and Wyoming (9-3) by respective 49-21 and 41-7 scores in the Tangerine and Fiesta Bowls.

TONY DORSETT AND FRIENDS CAPPED PITT'S first unbeaten season in 58 years with their 27-3 march through Georgia. That was great stuff, but it promptly launched their coach, Johnny Majors, on his long-awaited Tennessee Waltz.

The fans at Tennessee have watched Majors' success at Iowa State and Pitt with growing impatience. They made sure of Johnny's Come Marching Home well before the Sugar Bowl game by signing him to a long-term contract as coach and assistant athletic director.

"All year long I haven't waved my finger in the air," Majors said, "and I haven't worn a No. 1 button. But after the bowl game I told the team it was No. 1, and they all agreed that we are."

Dorsett climaxed his Heisman season in the 12th straight victory by carrying the ball 32 times for a Sugar Bowl record of 202 yards.

You didn't hear much about Pitt's quarterbacks this year—except when they were hurt and another had to take over—but Matt Cavanaugh picked Georgia's famed "Junk Yard Dogs" defense apart by completing 10 of 18 passes for 192 yards. Pitt proved it had a defense, too, by intercepting four passes and recovering two Georgia fumbles.

SEVERAL OTHER TEAMS WERE PROUD of their quarterbacks in bowl games. USC's Vince Evans was voted the game's top player in the Rose Bowl. He completed 14 of 20 passes for 181 yards and scored the first touchdown on a one-yard spin.

The Trojan TD was scored by freshman Charlie White, who gained 114 yards in 32 carries. He took over for Ricky Bell, who suffered a concussion on USC's fifth play.

Maryland's Mark Manges impressed a lot of bleary-eyed TV watchers with his quarterbacking in the Cotton Bowl. The Terrapins couldn't overtake Houston, but Manges completed 17 of 21 for 179 yards with no interceptions. He led Maryland in a comeback that closed the gap to 27-21 and had Houston worried deep in its own territory before the winners rallied for the game-clinching field goal.

Another quarterback who drew rave notices was Ohio State sophomore Rod Gerald. He had missed the Bucks' last three regular season games with a back injury. But after Ohio State fell behind, 10-0, Gerald came off the bench and raced 17 yards on his first play. He gained 81 yards on 14 carries and his 44-yard pass to the four-yard line set up Tom Skladany's second field goal.

ONE OF THE BIG SIDELIGHTS TO THE BOWLS was the growing philosophy of "Let 'em have fun" before the postseason classics. Remember when coaches used to be accused of virtually chaining up their players before such bowl games? Or sending them to monasteries to ensure all hands would get plenty of sleep and no distractions?

Well, New Orleans fun-seekers were agog at seeing Pitt's players enjoying some of the excitement on Bourbon Street. No bed checks, said Majors. And no rigid rules.

The Panthers stayed loose, and lots of other coaches couldn't quite believe that virtue didn't have so many rewards after all.

Others probably wanted to check what Terry Miller, Oklahoma State's great running back, did before the Tangerine Bowl. He ran 23 times for 173 yards and scored four TDs.

BEAR BRYANT, AT AGE 63, apparently isn't too old to keep a new streak going. Last year his Alabama team snapped a string of eight winless bowl ventures by beating Penn State in the Sugar Bowl. This time Bear regaled Crimson Tide fans in the Liberty Bowl with such things as a flea-flicker TD pass from halfback Tony Nathan to quarterback Jack O'Rear. He also unveiled (Heavens!) an unbalanced line, and one of 'Bama's key gains was a 19-yarder off an underhand toss.

The Fiesta Bowl was supposed to be a battle of wishbones. But coach Fred Akers and his Wyoming Cowboys saw it performed by experts when Oklahoma won the game, 41-7. Elvis Peacock got the Sooners off to an early lead and had two TD runs.

Note Dame changed a lot of "wait till next year" talk to "we can't wait till next year" after the Fighting Irish had whipped Penn State, 20-9, in the Gator. Dan Devine expects to have back 20 of the 23 players who started against Penn State, including tight end Ken McAfee, who caught five of senior Rick Slager's 10 completions for 76 yards.

North Carolina learned a lesson in its loss to Kentucky in the Peach: Don't make Rod Stewart mad. The Kentucky star scored all three TDs in a 21-0 win and was named most valuable player, after he charged North Carolina players had punched him on a first-quarter tackle. Stewart was so angry he jumped up and threw the football at his opponents. The officials paced off 15 yards against Kentucky for that, but Stewart's flying feet paced off the big yardage after that.

"NOW SEE WHAT YOU'VE DONE," moans Montana State's Tom Kostrba, fumbling the ball as he is hit squarely by Akron's Bob Larson during third quarter Pioneer Bowl action. This play wasn't good news for the Bobcats, but neither was it the end of the story. They went on to win the title, 17-13.

NATIONAL DIVISION II CHAMPIONSHIP

'Cats Descend From Big Sky Country To Take Zip From Akron's Title Bid

By TED BUSS

Sports Editor, Wichita Falls (Texas) Times

The day before Montana State was to meet the University of Akron in the NCAA Division II Championship at the Pioneer Bowl in Wichita Falls, Texas, Sonny Holland sat in a motel coffee shop and stared blankly out the window.

The burly Bobcat coach had been answering questions from the various newsmen surrounding him. Except for a couple, the reporters had left. Holland, speaking to nobody in particular, gave one last observation.

"All the polls and newspaper talk in the world can't settle this one," he said. "No matter how you figure it, it still comes down to the players."

HE ALMOST SEEMED RELIEVED THAT THE BIG DAY WAS NEAR. There were those who doubted Montana State really was No. 1, as the poll showed the last two weeks of the regular season. Holland was pleased to have the chance to prove it.

Thus, it was with great satisfaction that he hoisted the winner's plaque high over his head in the dressing room following the Bobcats' impressive 24-13 title win over Akron and told his ecstatic players, "Fellows, this is what it's all about!"

Akron coach Jim Dennison said he never doubted Montana State's strength, but several of his players grimly admitted that they may have underestimated their opponent, which was the Big Sky Conference champ.

Akron (10-2) came into the Pioneer Bowl ranked No. 3, but the Zips were spectacular in beating No. 7 Nevada-Las Vegas, 27-6, in the quarterfinals and dethroning 1975 NCAA Division II champion Northern Michigan, 29-26, in a wild semifinal.

Montana State (11-1), on the other hand, appeared lethargic in turning back No. 9 New Hampshire, 17-16, and 10th-ranked North Dakota State, 10-3.

So, all things considered, the NCAA title showdown took on the appearance of a tossup.

It was that way through the entire first quarter. Montana State made one serious threat; but Akron came up with a sparkling goal line stand inside the five, and the first period ended scoreless.

From that point on, save for a brief second-half flurry by Akron, Holland's Bobcats made their No. 1 ranking glow.

THE RUNNING of Don Ueland and Tom Kostuba put Montana State in position for two second-quarter TD passes.

It was ironic that the Bobcats led Division II in rushing, and yet, two of their three touchdowns came on passes.

Ted Buss is a four-year veteran of college football wars, primarily Southwest Conference-style.

The native of Wichita Falls attended North Texas State and received his bachelor of science degree from Midwestern State.

In 1962 he joined the staff of the Wichita Falls Times and became sports editor of that paper and the Wichita Falls Record News in 1966.

The author of a weekly column, "Buss Stop," has won two Associated Press awards for feature sports writing and three AP photo awards.

Both of the writing honors rated him first among his journalistic peers in the state of Texas.

"I SAW IT FIRST," Akron fullback Mark Hovanec (45) points out to a gentleman from Montana State who had his own designs on the loose ball. Actually Hovanec did have it first and coughed it up for a turnover during second quarter action in the NCAA Division II final won by Montana State, 17-13.

Quarterback Paul Dennehy lofted a five-yard scoring strike to tight end Ron McCullough to break the scoreless duel. Kostrba rushed for 43 yards during the slick 51-yard drive. Jeff Muri drilled the first of three extra points.

Montana State roared back again on its next possession, and this time Ueland took a pitch from Dennehy at Akron's three and pegged a strike to Butch Damberger for the score, as the 'Cats raced to a 14-0 halftime advantage.

There were actually two key factors in the Bobcats' victory.

One would come in the fourth quarter on a pass interception by Les Leininger to stop Akron's final bid for victory. Earlier, marking the other crucial point, two big third down plays led to Montana State's first two scores.

On third and 11 from Akron's 38 in the first TD drive, Kostrba blasted for 19 yards on a draw play. On third and nine from the Zips' 13 in the next series, Ueland bolted for 10 yards and a first down at the three.

"Those two third down plays really hurt us," Dennison moaned. "We had a chance to stop them and just couldn't do it. I can see why they led the nation in rushing. Their offensive line just blew us out in the first half. It is definitely a major college line."

Ueland rushed for 94 yards; Kostrba had 75, and Delmar Jones chipped in 59 as Montana State rolled up 266 yards rushing against Akron's stubborn five-two defense.

Muri kicked a 21-yard field goal to start the third quarter, as the Bobcats upped the lead to 17-0. However, Akron turned a fumble and a pass interception into two quick scores, and suddenly, midway through the fourth quarter, it was 17-13.

The Zips had to drive only 30 and 35 yards to get back into the game, and Dave Axner got the first score on a three-yard blast.

The second touchdown came on a 22-yard bullet from quarterback Marty Bezbatchencko to wide receiver Glenn Evans.

At that point, it was anybody's game, and Akron had a golden chance to win it with six minutes remaining.

The Zips moved from the shadow of their goal line out to the 43 where they faced third and 10. But with Bezbatchencko pressed out of the pocket, his hurried pass was plucked out of the gray sky by Leininger.

The fourth Division II Championship belonged to Montana State.

"YES, I THINK THEY MAY HAVE UNDERESTIMATED us a little bit," Holland said in the happy Bobcat locker room. "Akron played a very tough schedule, but I never once felt the Big Sky Conference was inferior.

"It was the greatest win I've ever been associated with, and Akron certainly had nothing to be ashamed of. It took a great team to make it this far."

In round one of the NCAA playoffs, second-ranked Northern Michigan turned back No. 4 Delaware, 28-17, after falling behind, 17-7, in the fourth quarter.

The Wildcats' brilliant quarterback, Steve Mariucci, was hurt in that game, and he was unable to play against Akron the following week.

North Dakota State won its way into the semifinals by edging Eastern Kentucky, 10-7. Coach Jim Wacker's Bison played excellent defense throughout the playoffs.

Akron's semifinal victory over Northern Michigan was one of the most thrilling in Division II playoff history. The lead changed hands six times, and it came down to a 23-23 draw at the end of regulation.

NMU WENT ON TOP, 26-23, on a 39-yard field goal by Dan Harves, but Akron won it moments later on a one-yard sneak by Bezbatchencko.

Dave Axner scored three touchdowns for the Zips and had 122 yards rushing.

Todd Krueger, coach Gil Krueger's son, filled in brilliantly for the injured Mariucci. The freshman southpaw hit 16 of 27 passes for 251 yards.

Actually it was a game of many comebacks.

Northern Michigan, the nation's top scoring team with an average of 43 points per game, marched 72 yards to take a 23-20 lead with just 3:35 to go.

Running back Randy Awrey fumbled into the end zone from the one, but teammate Roy Brown recovered to give the Wildcats a brief lead.

Akron then drove 70 yards to tie it, 23-23, on Jim Embick's 39-yard field goal with one second showing on the scoreboard clock.

This set the stage for the first overtime ever in Division II championship play.

Several writers covering that semifinal game felt the national championship was decided that day on a frozen field in Akron, Ohio.

However, as Sonny Holland said, newspapers don't decide the championship in Division II—the players do. And the Montana State Bobcats made the most of their opportunity to grab the title in the deciding game of the 1976 playoffs.

NATIONAL DIVISION III CHAMPIONSHIP

Fourth-Quarter Heroics Fall Short For Towson In St. John's Title Win

By RICHARD HYATT

Associate Editor, The Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer

If you put your faith in statistics, then you would have said that there was no reason for Towson State to be at Phenix City, Alabama, for the 1976 Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl game, which would decide the NCAA Division III Football Championship.

The Maryland school was not even ranked when it closed its regular season with an 8-2 record. And in postseason play the Tigers had edged C.W. Post only by a 14-10 score and nipped St. Lawrence, 38-36.

But the numbers that most people noticed were on the side of St. John's.

The Johnnies from Minnesota were ranked No. 1 after compiling a 7-0-1 season record. And after coach John Gagliardi's Johnnies blitzed Augustana, 46-7, and Buena Vista, 61-0, in the NCAA playoffs, the pollsters seemed to know their football.

AS THE THIRD QUARTER WHISTLE SOUNDED last December 4, all was well with St. John's. It led Towson, 28-0, and seemed ready to add the NCAA Division III trophy to its collection. The Johnnies ultimately did just that, but only after one of the wildest fourth quarters of college football in memory.

In the end it took a pressure-packed 19-yard field goal by Jeff Norman as the final second clicked off the scoreboard clock to give the Johnnies a 31-28 Stagg Bowl victory over unheralded Towson State.

Many of the 7,214 fans who had been aboard for the fifth annual Stagg Bowl weren't around for Norman's heroics. They had looked at the 28-0 advantage the Johnnies enjoyed when the last quarter began and headed for home.

What a finish they missed!

It all began on the first play of the final quarter. Towson quarterback Dan Dullea, who had suffered through a miserable first half when he completed only three of 10 passes and had three interceptions, hit Ken Snoots on a 57-yard bomb down to the Johnnie five.

On fourth down, from the one, tailback Mike Maloney took it in. After a bad snap on the extra point, St. John's lead was trimmed to 28-6.

THE JOHNNIES kept the ball on the ground and had to punt back to the Tigers.

Dullea quickly got Towson on the scoreboard again.

His passes of 17 yards to Skip Chase, of three to Mike Bennett and the payoff pitch of 33 to Snoots made it 28-12.

A two-point conversion toss to Bennett made it 28-14 with Richard Hyatt returns for an encore performance as author of the Football Guide's coverage of the Division III Championship.

He hasn't missed a Stagg Bowl game since covering it as one of his initial assignments after joining The Enquirer as sports editor in 1972.

Prior to joining the staff of the Columbus, Georgia, publication, Hyatt focused his attention on college sports action for his hometown Atlanta Constitution for four years.

A year after signing on with The Enquirer, the former Georgia Tech assistant sports information director became city editor and, in 1974, associate editor.

"MAKE WAY!" signals St. John's quarterback Jeff Norman (2) as he looks for a gap in the defense of Towson State in the Division III championship game. Towson defenders Joe Waggoner (71) and Eldridge Haley (81) are just a little behind Norman as was their team at the end, 31-28.

10:13 remaining.

Not even two more interceptions cooled off Dullea. With 1:03 to play he found Snoots open on a 22-yarder, and Randy Gielski's extra point attempt brought the score to 28-21.

Everyone in the stadium guessed it would be an onside kick, but that didn't keep Towson from pulling it off. Bill Doherty's recovery gave the Tigers the ball again at the St. John's 40. And, with 34 seconds left, the red-hot Dullea hit Bennett on a six-yard scoring pass. Bielski's point-after tied the game at 28.

Now everyone was guessing overtime.

Everyone except Jeff Norman.

Taking over at his own 41, the junior quarterback tried to hit stumpy senior Jim Roeder, but the pass was incomplete. The next play Norman tried Roeder again, and the gimpy-legged halfback somehow turned the play into a 58-yarder, going all the way to the Towson one, deftly using one of the officials to screen out a defender.

With just seven seconds to play, most figured the Johnnies would line up for a field goal attempt. Instead Norman tried to sneak it in, but he fumbled the snap. As he recovered the ball, a time out was called with three important seconds remaining.

This time Norman did call for a field goal. The angle was tough, the uprights being over his left tackle. But as Norman's toe met the ball and the seconds clicked away, the official signaled the kick was good.

St. John's was the champion of Division III.

The Johnnies had their share of heroes. Norman, voted the game's MVP, personally accounted for three touchdowns. He ran 32 yards for one himself, passed to fullback Tim Schmitz for another and threw 10 yards to Roeder for a third.

Roeder, one of the Johnnie co-captains, was not even expected to play because of a knee injury, but the 5-7, 165-pounder caught that third quarter TD pass and set up Norman's winning field goal with his fourth quarter reception.

Schmitz also ran 52 yards for another touchdown and was the game's leading rusher with 153 yards on 30 carries.

Brad Eustice, normally not even a starter, had 103 yards on 12 carries.

Gagliardi, the Division III coach of the year, gave Towson a lot of credit for its comeback, but he thought the Johnnies had played too close to the vest late in the game.

"WE LET THEM GET OFF THE HOOK, AND THAT'S WHAT HAPPENS. I should have known better from my days coaching basketball. We started playing too conservatively. We should have put them away. We usually do," he said, probably thinking back to the Johnnies' 215-42 point advantage in postseason play.

Norman, who calls all the plays for the Johnnies, explained his last-minute strategy of going for a TD instead of playing it safe and lining up for a field goal attempt.

"We just thought we'd push the sneak in, and we probably would have if we hadn't fumbled. We had another time out left, and I asked the officials to call it when the whistle blew," the junior quarterback said.

As for his winning field goal, he said, "I was thinking first about the angle, but you don't have time to think about much."

Norman also finished with 137 yards through the air, although he had only four completions in 12 attempts. However, two of those four went for touchdowns.

BUT NORMAN CREDITED THE INJURY-HAMPERED ROEDER for the big completion which set up the winning field goal. "I knew it was complete when I threw it, but how Jimmy did it I don't know. He couldn't even walk this morning. It's hard to believe he played. But it's a good thing he did."

The likeable Gagliardi was just thankful. "If the game had gone into overtime, Towson definitely would have had the momentum. They probably would have won," he said, savoring his third national championship, but his first in the NCAA.

In his 24 years of coaching, Gagliardi teams have won 176 and lost just 58.

He ranks second among active coaches, and his Johnnies have won three straight Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles. Standing on the Phenix City Stadium turf, he was quick to give Towson credit for its amazing comeback.

And well he should. The Tigers of coach Phil Albert have been playing football only nine years, and this was their first venture into NCAA postseason competition.

They had heroes of their own.

Dullea, overcoming his cold first half, finished with 17 completions in 34 attempts good for 288 yards, accounting for three TDs passing.

Snoots, a talented freshman, had six catches for 137 yards and two touchdowns. Chase, the Tigers' 240-pound tight end, caught six for 96 yards. Bennett, a diminutive senior, caught five tosses for 55 yards and a touchdown.

This trio accounted for all of Dullea's completions.

Did Towson deserve to be there? Don't look at statistics. Ask St. John's.

DIVISION I FORM CHART

Runners Persell And Miller, Passers Nielsen And Thompson Lead Field

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associate Director, NCAA Statistics Service

[Teams classified major-college were placed in Division I at the special NCAA Convention of August, 1973. There are now 145 teams in Division I. College-Division teams were divided in 1973 into Division II (now 123 teams) and Division III (now 202 teams).]

Don't be turned off by the fact that no Division I running back this season is going for 5,000 career rushing yards, much less 6,000. There's a world of running talent around, even though no Tony Dorsetts or Archie Griffins statistically. Twenty 1,000-yard rushers from

'76 are back, headed by runner-up Jerome Persell of Western Michigan, whose 1,505 set an all-time high for major-college sophomores. Heading the career list for all returnees is Oklahoma State's Terry Miller, the Panty Girdle King (only kidding, Terry) who was fourth in the '76 Heisman voting behind the consensus all-America running backs—all seniors.

MILLER'S 2,902 CAREER yards may not seem like much these days, but only four seniors-to-be in Division I history had more—Pitt's Dorsett 4,134 entering '76, Ohio State's Griffin 3,820 and Oklahoma's Joe Washington 3,124 entering '75, and New Mexico State's Ron Po James 3,113 entering '71.

After all, to set career records now you need a big freshman year, and injuries wrecked the freshman years of both Persell (just three plays) and Miller (just 335 yards).

Miller and three teammates wore extra-large, long-leg panty girdles at the suggestion of team physician Dr. Don Cooper ("it helps prevent hamstrings"). Kidding now, Miller laughs, "Yeah, well, I might get myself some high-heel cleats for this season."

The swift (4.4 in the 40) 192-pounder from Colorado Springs can look back on three years of banking experience. His career goal at age 40 is to own a bank. Miller has made and turned down (once an OSU teammate on a car) loans, inspected real estate loans, monitored construction draws, worked with Mexican import money and helped in finance pricing.

IT ALL STARTED with a highly-recruited 17-year-old weeks out of high school, facing Clarence Wright, president of the then all-white Yukon, Okla., bank. "So you want to work for a bank?" Wright recalls asking. "No sir, I want to own one," the young black replied without blinking. "But I want to know—are you prejudiced?" "Hell yes," said Wright, "Are you prejudiced?" "Well . . .," said Terry, a smile forming, "I guess I am."

Without Persell in '75, Western Michigan was 1-10. With him in '76, the Broncos were 7-4—one of the country's most-improved teams. The 5-10, 180-pounder from Detroit is "the strongest player on our squad," says coach Elliot Uzelac. "He can squat 610 pounds—a team record—and bench press 290." No wonder he's so hard to bring down.

Third behind Persell and Miller is Texas Arlington's Derrick Jensen, 6-2 and 230 (he was 6-1 and 195 three years ago) who now can bench press 405 pounds. As a junior at Osawatomic, Kan., High, he had a choice—"back-up running back or starting center. I chose center." But that wasn't the end of it. He wrote a letter to his math teacher and line coach, Troy Hodges, with glowing words about Jensen, the potential running back. "I signed it, 'Hank Stram' (then coach of the nearest pro team)," Jensen says with a smile.

The list of 1,000-yard returnees includes only three who put together back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons—Miller, Virginia Tech's Roscoe Coles and Ohio's Arnold Welcher. Only 5-9 and 167, Coles is a burner out of Tech's wishbone and works at blocking as though his job depended on it. His father is a career Navy man and he's the only Tech player in the ROTC. With 2,787 career yards—second to Miller among returnees—he can make the still-exclusive 4,000 club. The 210-pound Welcher is quiet and religious. He wants to provide some immediate help to his family, which has struggled since his father died.

Only two returnees reached 2,000 career yards by the end of the sophomore year—North Carolina State junior Ted Brown and Texas senior Earl Campbell, a swift 232-pounder held to 653 by injuries in '76. "I can't describe how it felt watching from the sidelines," Campbell said. "I try to live a pretty decent life, but if that Man takes his arms from around me, I can't go anywhere." Campbell said he kissed a picture of the Heisman Trophy, held by Dorsett, because "I'd like to win it next time." (He can reach 4,000, too.)

Fourth on the list is Yale's John Pagliaro, a local hero who has the man on the street talking Yale football again. Then come New Mexico's Mike Williams, a punishing 215-pounder, Southern Mississippi's Ben Garry and Ohio State's Jeff Logan, who spent two years behind Archie Griffin. In scoring, Persell, Pagliaro and Miller rank 1-2-3, then comes Texas A&M's 240-pound blockbuster—George Woodard. Topping the all-purpose returnees is SMU's Arthur Whittington, a do-everything type with two punt-return TDs.

Wake Forest's James McDougald and Indiana's Mike Harkrader became the third and fourth major-college freshmen ever to rush 1,000 yards. Harkrader took over after the first, second and third tailbacks were injured in the first three games. In the final game at Purdue, he chipped an ankle bone in one leg in the first half, then broke the other leg in the second half, but finished second in the Big Ten.

Brigham Young's Gifford Nielsen this season can become the first major collegian ever with two 3,000-yard passing years. And if he gets "only" 2,884, he'll break the all-time high in Division I for career passing yards—7,549 by Florida's John Reaves in 1969-71.

Nielsen threw for 3,192 yards in '76—fifth highest ever—and finished sixth in the Heisman voting, a notch behind Tommy Kramer of Rice, who graduated. Nielsen is big (6-5) and smart, a classic drop-back passer who has made amazing progress when you consider he was a two-letterman and starter in basketball at BYU (he scored 24 in his last game two years ago) before going out for football. He's a native son, from Provo, Utah.

Close behind are Washington State's Jack Thompson, the "Throwin' Samoan," and Stanford's Guy Benjamin, who were in a virtual dead heat for 2-3-4 with Nielsen in pass completions. Thompson threw for 2,762 yards although he didn't become a starter until the fourth game. Strong-armed and 6-3, he's compared to Jim Plunkett. "My Samoan name is Siaki, not Jack, but my father goes by Jack Thompson and I was named after him," he says.

Benjamin, also 6-3, will be free of the two-year controversy over whether he or Mike Cordova should be starting. Cordova graduated and Stanford has a new coach. If Benjamin can avoid the injuries which have plagued him for years, he could take it all. Early-season knee injuries wrecked his senior high school and freshman college seasons. Last year he broke his nose a fourth time ("each time it heads off a little more to the left, like a hooked golf shot") and a sprained ankle bothered him most of the season (before one game he said, "I'm not at full speed . . . but I don't think I ever was").

Army's 6-5 Leamon Hall, No. 4 returnee in passing and total offense, is ready for another big year with his favorite target, 6-4 Clennie Brundidge, returning. Behind the big four are a number of talented running QBs who simply didn't throw enough to win in total-offense, but are good passers. For instance, Mike Dunn of Duke rushed for 757 yards—second nationally among QBs to Kentucky's Derrick Ramsey (771)—and New Mexico's Noel Mazzone (617) and Michigan's Rick Leach (604) were among 11 QBs who netted at least 600 on the ground. Texas Tech's Rodney Allison, who rushed for 523, led the country's passers in yards per attempt (10.5), with Arizona's Marc Lunsford (9.7), Leach (9.6), Pitt's Matt Cavanaugh (9.3), Alabama's Jeff Rutledge (9.0), Memphis State's Lloyd Patterson (8.8), Nielsen (8.6) and Houston's Danny Davis (8.4) all in the top 10.

Allison and Davis started the '76 season as unknown sophomores and led their teams to a share of the Southwest Conference title. Allison, a skilled snakehunter from Odessa, Tex., says, "There's no need to glorify snakehunting—it's scary enough like it is." Davis is just as quick-footed as Allison and more daring in his predictions. On TV at the Tech game, Davis introduced himself thusly, "I'm Danny Davis, quarterback, from Dallas, the home of the Cotton Bowl. See you there Jan. 1." (Houston beat Tech and won the Cotton Bowl.)

Michigan's Leach led the country in total-offense yards per play (7.7). He acts like coach Bo Schembechler, sounds like Bo, is lefthanded like Bo, chews gum like Bo, thinks like Bo and plays like Bo would if he were quarterback.

Rice's Doug Cunningham, who played his last five games in '76 with a splint on a broken finger (then missed the last two), is the country's top returning receiver, with teammate David Houser fifth. In between are Washington State's pair—Mike Levenseller and Dan Doornink—and Illinois State's Jeff Gowan. The key to this race may be that the Washington State pair will have Jack Thompson throwing to them, while the Rice pair and Gowan have the same problem—their passer graduated. Army's Clennie Brundidge has an advantage, too—he'll have Leamon Hall throwing to him. It used to be a lot different. Brundidge recalls that when he and Hall played for rival high schools in Florida, "Our whole team hated Leamon. Everyone put in a dollar and whoever could get Leamon out of the game would get the whole pot. Nobody did." Laughs Hall, "I suspected something in those games."

The top returning big-play receiver is Florida's Wes Chandler, whose career 22.0 yards per catch ranks second all-time. After breaking five tackles (he was a wishbone halfback in high school) in a 64-yard TD against Auburn, the Auburn war eagle tried to bite him (Auburn was penalized 15 yards on the ensuing kickoff). In career catches, Arizona State's John Jefferson leads all returnees with 122, New Mexico's Preston Dennard has 116, TCU's Mike Renfro 112 and all three have their QBs back in '77.

Houston's Anthony Francis, the defending interceptions champion, played a strong role in his team's turn-around from 2-8 to 10-2. His two steals for 65 yards were vital in beating Texas A&M. Pittsburgh's defending national champions boast two top interceptors—Jeff Delaney (a 3.9 pre-med student) with nine and Bob Jury with seven. They are roommates, and Jury says, "Delaney talks in his sleep—he calls out defensive checks."

Southern Cal safety Dennis Thurman has a reputation for big plays on uncanny stolen fumbles (scored as interceptions)—the latest being his 47-yarder that broke up a scoreless tie with then-unbeaten UCLA in the battle for the Pacific-8 title and Rose Bowl.

Wisconsin's Ira Matthews, the defending kickoff-return champion, had two TDs—and no other major collegian in the land had more than one kickoff-return TD in '76 (national average: one for every 217 returns). Next is Georgia Tech's Drew Hill, despite no TDs.

Memphis State's Keith Wright, a big-play receiver, is the punt-return leader, thanks to two TDs of 64 and 71 yards (only two others had two—SMU's Art Whittington and Dartmouth's John Carney). Wright's 17.1 career average gives him a chance to finish high on the all-time career list, and his four career TDs is three short of the all-time high.

A sweep of field goals and punting by a pair of Texans who were only sophomores gave the Southwest Conference five national individual statistical champions in 1976 from four different SWC teams—an unprecedented feat in the 40 years of official rankings by NCAA.

With two years left, Texas A&M's Tony Franklin is the unquestioned king of long-distance FG kicking, because his 10 FGs from at least 50 yards is already the all-time career high in Division I. He's a bare-footed soccer-styler from Fort Worth. Texas' Russell Erxleben, a 6-4, 200-pound former prep quarterback at Seguin, won at 46.6—second highest punting average ever for those with at least 50 punts (eighth using a 30 minimum).

Neither is a cinch to repeat, because 15 of the top 19 punters are back and 24 of the 36 kickers who averaged at least one FG per game are returning.

Franklin's feats overshadowed the field in a year when the country's kickers reached another all-time high in total FGs at 1,187. Consider this: Franklin in '76 was 7-for-11 from at least 50 yards, while the next nine kickers combined were 3-for-25 from that range. And imagine this: Before Franklin, no major collegian had two FGs of at least 60 yards in one season, and only Air Force's Dave Lawson had two in an entire career. Then Franklin not only kicked two in one game, but the two longest in NCAA history—64, then 65 against Baylor. On the same day, for crying out loud, 28-year-old Ove Johansson (cousin of former world heavyweight boxing champion Ingemar Johansson) kicked a 69-yarder for the NAIA's Abilene Christian—a world record. Franklin's record lasted 20 minutes.

Franklin is capable of 70 yards. A long-distance kick fires him up, and he likes to kick when it's cold. He has never played soccer—he picked up the technique watching TV.

The 2-3 returnees—VMI's Craig Jones and California's Jim Breech, also are soccer-stylers. Breech, 5-7 and 155, remembers the time he was talking to teammates and waiting for the team bus at Oregon when a man asked him if he was one of the managers: "I'm small, but I didn't think it was that obvious." Paul (Pee Wee) Marchese has a handicapped brother, his mother died of cancer and another brother was killed in an auto accident, but he refuses to get depressed. He paid his way to kicking camps, practiced all summer and won the kicking job at Kent State, inspiring teammates with his determination.

DIVISIONS II-III FORM CHART

Quality Crop Of 1976 Underclassmen Means Hot Statistics Races In '77

By JIM WRIGHT
NCAA Statistics Service

It was a big year for Division III underclassmen in 1976 and that means there are a number of outstanding returnees in '77. No less than seven of the nine individual statistical titles last year were won by a freshman, three sophomores and three juniors.

Typical of that youth movement is the number of men back for a shot at the rushing championship. Ferris State's Chuck Evans took top honors in '76 with a 150.9 per-game average, but 16 of last year's top 20 return.

JUST 5-7 AND 170 POUNDS, Evans might never have had a chance to carry the ball were it not for an overabundance of receivers on the 1975 Bulldog squad.

A receiver throughout his high school career and as a freshman at Ferris State, Evans was given a tryout at halfback in the spring of his sophomore year and missed gaining 1000 yards that fall by just eight (992), although his team didn't win a single game (0-10).

As a junior last season, Evans ran for more yards per contest than all other NCAA rushers except one . . . Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett. And only Dorsett, Andre Herrera of Southern Illinois and Terry Miller of Oklahoma State ran for more yards than Evans (1509). All three played for Division I schools and played 11 games compared to Evans' 10.

Coach Nick Coso, the man who switched Evans from receiver to running back, is obviously pleased with the move. "Give him an inch and he'll take what's left of the football field. Chuck's so quick that when he cuts, he accelerates at full blast. Within 10 yards he's as quick as most anyone."

Evans, who prepares for games by listening to jazz and reading poetry, recalls the problems of the winless '75 campaign: "I talked with our quarterback, Steve Duchon, at the first of the year, and we tried to figure out what went wrong and how we could change things. We communicated with one another and we started to get it together."

THREE TIMES IN '76 EVANS gained over 200 yards in a game, and four times he exceeded 100 yards. He had seven touchdown runs of 50 yards or more while leading the team to a 5-5 record, the Bulldogs' best finish since 1972.

Evans can expect a battle for the rushing crown from William Penn's Jim Goerss, who averaged over 154 yards his last four games in '76 to finish with a 139.2 per-game average. Byron Stallworth of Nebraska Wesleyan, fifth a year ago with 136.4 yards a game, led the Plainsmen in scoring, punt returns and total offense and was also the starting second baseman on the baseball team where his speed gave him eight stolen bases in eight tries.

Another speedster can be found among Division II's top returning receivers—Nebraska-Omaha's Dan Fulton. The No. 2 returning receiver (behind defending champion Bo Darden of Shaw), "The Steam Machine" established Divisions II-III records for both receiving yards (1581) and average gain per catch (23.6 for receivers with at least 55 catches—he had 67).

Fulton teamed with Maverick quarterback John Smolsky (third in the nation in passing and fourth in total offense) to form a devastating deep threat. The duo hooked up for TD passes of at least 40 yards in each of the team's first eight games. Fulton's 16 touchdown passes were a 1976 all-divisions high.

Smolsky, who graduated last spring, had supreme confidence in Fulton's ability to get open. "I figured if Dan was even with his man, he had him beat. But sometimes Dan got so open my main worry was overthrowing him."

Fulton actually began his collegiate football career at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln and attributes a lot of his current success to an assistant Cornhusker coach.

"Guy Ingles showed me how to run patterns," says Fulton. But he felt lost in the crowd in Lincoln and transferred to Omaha. "I hadn't intended to play football at UNO, but a friend talked me into going out."

"Without a doubt, he's the best receiver I've been associated with in 16 years of coaching," says coach Bill Danenhauer. "Dan has continued to improve his concentration. If he keeps on improving, he's going to be the greatest receiver in the country."

And for a classic matchup, what about Fulton one-on-one against Tennessee-Martin strong safety Clay Blalack? The No. 5 returning pass interceptor, Blalack picked off eight enemy aeriels and set a Divisions II-III record returning four for touchdowns.

Among the top returnees in Division II scoring is one of college football's smallest players—5-4 Mike Gill of Santa Clara. A running back, Gill scored 15 touchdowns (14 by rushing) for the Broncos. Gill received a scholarship from San Jose State, but his size prevented him from seeing much action and he transferred to Santa Clara.

Division II's top returning scorer, Portland State's Jeff Salta, scored a near-record seven touchdowns (the record is eight) in the Vikings' 87-6 win over Eastern Montana in the season finale. He was the team's leading rusher with 673 yards (including 21 rushing TDs) and third-leading pass receiver (two touchdowns) playing fullback.

Chris Hipsley, a fullback from Cornell College, won the Division III scoring title with a 14.7 per-game average, was the Rams' top rusher with 635 yards and kicked 42 of 42 extra points, in addition to scoring 14 touchdowns. Another top scoring returnee is Jeff Norman, the placekicker for Division III national champion St. John's, Minn., who finished second to Hipsley with a 12.0 average.

Division III boasts some outstanding returning field goal kickers. Tito Lajterman of Kean tied a Divisions II-III record last September with five field goals against Seton Hall. His

1.20 field goals per game was good for a second-place tie in '76 with Randy Bielski of Towson State, the Division III runner-up to St. John's.

Bielski is following in the footsteps of his father, Dick, a kicker and fullback at Maryland before his pro career. Dick was a conventional, straight-ahead kicker, however, while Randy kicks soccer style.

Mark Sniegocki of Bethany, W. Va., is the defending field goal champion with a 1.22 per-game average. His .786 percentage (11 of 14 attempts) was the second-best mark among the top 15 field goal kickers last season (Bill McCandless of Trinity, Conn., led with seven for eight, an .875 percentage).

The only freshman to win a national statistical title in any division was Massachusetts Maritime's Keven Doherty. His 30.2 average per punt return was the best mark in any division in 1976.

Occidental featured the top returning passer and receiver in Division III with quarterback Tom Hamilton and wide receiver Rick Fry. Hamilton led all signal callers with 16.4 completions per game and was also second in total offense with 232.8 yards a game. Fry caught more than half of Hamilton's tosses (74) for 1214 yards and eight TDs. His 9.3 receptions per game was an all-divisions high for 1976.

One of the most impressive individual performances of the year was turned in by quarterback Rollie Wiebers of Buena Vista, a Division III semifinalist (losing to St. John's). Wiebers is the defending total offense king (244.2 yards per game) and did it both in the air and on the ground. He was the Beavers' leading rusher with 519 yards and eight touchdowns and the leading passer with 95 completions for 1679 yards. His 18 touchdown passes were the top figure for any quarterback in Division III last season.

But for real dedication, what about Trinity, Conn., middle guard Barry Dorfman, who came up with something better than the traditional letterman's sweater? Dorfman shaved a "T" in the rather luscious growth of hair on his chest, hoping to inspire the rest of the Bantams' defense. It worked. The team finished third in rushing defense (70.1 yards a game) and twelfth in total defense (198.5).

THE ALL-AMERICA ROSTER

Certainly Most Offensive AA Ever: Backs Gained A Record 8,039 Yards

By NCAA STATISTICS SERVICE

The 1976 consensus all-America football team is certainly the most-offensive AA team ever—by quite a margin.

For instance, Rice's Tommy Kramer passed for 3,317 yards—most in history by a consensus all-America quarterback (previous high: 2,715 by Stanford's Jim Plunkett in 1970)—and his 3,272 total offense also is a record for consensus QBs.

And the team's three running backs—Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh, Ricky Bell of Southern Cal and Rob Lytle of Michigan—combined for 4,767 total rushing yards this season. That's an all-time high for a consensus backfield (old record: 4,692 by Bell, Archie Griffin and Chuck Muncie in 1975).

Put Kramer and his three runners together and you have an incredible 8,039 yards total offense. No other consensus quartet even had 7,000! (The closest: Auburn's Pat Sullivan, Cornell's Ed Marinaro, Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt and Alabama's Johnny Musso, who combined for 6,757 in 1971, or an amazing 1,282 short of this year's quartet.)

OF COURSE, DORSETT'S 1,948 RUSHING was an all-time season high, and Kramer's 3,272 total offense was second highest ever, so a record was inevitable.

The 1976 team is unique in four other respects:

(1) It has seven underclassmen, topped by Outland Trophy winner Ross Browner, Notre Dame end. Only the wartime 1945 consensus AA team tops that, with eight (it included Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard of Army and Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma State, all juniors, and Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's (Cal.), a sophomore, as the backs).

(2) It's the first ever with a kicker—Texas A&M's Tony Franklin (a sophomore). For the first time, three of the four teams used in the consensus picked a kicker.

(3) The offensive line averages 255.2 pounds—heaviest ever (surpassing the 248.4-pound average of 1972).

(4) The defensive line averages 247.3—heaviest ever (topping 242.3 in '74).

THERE WERE SIX UNANIMOUS CHOICES—Dorsett, Bell and Oklahoma tackle Mike Vaughan on offense and Browner, Texas A&M linebacker Robert Jackson and Wake Forest safety Bill Armstrong on defense. Nine others missed by one. A tie at defensive tackle between Southern Cal's Gary Jeter and Maryland's Joe Campbell, plus the addition of a kicker resulted in a 24-man team (the high: 26 in '74).

Southern Cal placed three men, six other teams two each. The Southwest Conference placed five—most of any conference. Seven consensus players listed hometowns in Texas, six in California and five in Ohio. The entire roster, including all who made at least one of the four all-America teams, totals 47 players from 33 teams, with Idaho represented for the first time.

The consensus team is based solely on four teams—Football Writers' Association, Football Coaches Association, United Press International and Associated Press (the four's second and third teams were used to break ties.).

By the way, the record weight of the '76 AA linemen continues an interesting trend—the average weight of AA interior linemen has gone up 1.3 pounds per man over the last 15 years, while the average weight of all other AA players stayed the same. At that rate, AA interior linemen will average almost 280 pounds by the year 2000! From another angle, Alabama's Rose Bowl team 50 years ago averaged 195.8 in the interior line, the '76 Pittsburgh unbeaten Sugar Bowlers 236.7 for both interior lines.

1977 Division I Schedules

Listed alphabetically in this section are the 1977 schedules and 1976 records of all teams classified Division I in football.

Coaching records (below head coaches' names) are for all seasons as the head coach at any four-year collegiate institution.

Opposite each opponent on a team's 1977 schedule is the all-time series record—the number of games won, lost and tied against that opponent in previous meetings between the two teams.

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has increased from 250 million to 800 million (FAO 1996).

There are a number of reasons why the world's population is becoming more food insecure. First, the world's population is growing rapidly, and the demand for food is increasing. Second, the world's population is becoming more urbanized, and the demand for food is increasing. Third, the world's population is becoming more affluent, and the demand for food is increasing. Fourth, the world's population is becoming more mobile, and the demand for food is increasing. Fifth, the world's population is becoming more educated, and the demand for food is increasing.
